CONVENTION.

HITCHCOCK RETIRES.

Allies Win Partial Victory.

Two Taft Men Give Way to Members Whose Proxies They Held.

Opposition Will Continue the Fight Before Committee and Convention.

Fairbanks's Manager Says Battle Will Be Carried on With Vigor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The allies who late Saturday night announced that they would present no more contests to the National Committee but would carry the battle against Taft into the national convention, saw a new light today.

They decided to go on with the contests before the National Committee, and at the same time to carry the fight into the national convention.

The allies also won a partial victory, two of the Taft men who hold proxies on the National Committee, Frank H. Hitchcock, and Mr. Statler, his clerk, retiring.

This evening Solomon Luna of New Mexico, whose proxy Mr. Hitchcock holds, and Alexander Mackenzie of North Dakota, whom Mr. Statler has been representing, arrived in town, and naturally will sit with the committee tomorrow morning. This probably will not change the complexion of the committee, but it will eliminate Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Statler from any further voting power in the committee. The committeeman from Alaska, whose proxy Mr. Phelps holds, has not yet been heard from.

But at that, Mr. Hitchcock will sit with the committee. He is assistant secretary of that body, and so entitled to a seat, if not a vote. Furthermore, he can get a vote if he wants it. There are three more proxies available if he wants to take advantage of them.

ISSUE STATEMENT.

The allies tonight issued a statement explaining why they had dropped the drastic plan adopted Saturday night. The statement reads:

"Upon the authority of the representatives of all of the Presidential candidates other than Secretary of War Taft, it was announced today that they would continue to present their side of the contested delegate cases to the National Committee. The decision of the National Committee will not be taken as final by the candidates known as 'the allies,' but an appeal will be taken in cases where it is believed injustice has been done, first to the Committee on Credentials, and later to the national convention itself.

"The determination of the representatives of the allies to continue the presentation of their side of the contests to the National Committee is not to be taken as an indication that they approved of the manner in which these contests have been decided. But, in order to be in the position to present all of the cases in proper form to the Committee on Credentials, it is deemed advisable to comply with the form of procedure laid down by the National Committee.

"It is the firm determination of the representatives of the allies to give the National Committee first an opportunity to consider all the contests upon their merits."

KEEP UP FIGHT.

The foregoing statement was given out by Agnus Early of the Cannon headquarters. It was written, however, by Senator Hemenway of Indiana and indorsed by all the representatives of the allied candidates. Joseph B. Keating, manager for the Fairbanks candidacy, explained the matter more fully.

"We are going to fight all along the line," he said. "We will fight before the National Committee, before the Credentials Committee and before the convention itself. We are not going to quit before we are down and out."

"But every time you lose a State on the temporary roll call you lose a member of the committee," was suggested.

"Yes, but where we lose a southern member we gain a northern member who wants to see fair play," replied Mr. Keating.

"Now, look here, Keating," broke in a friend who was listening. "Allowing that you are getting the worst of it, you are simply getting what you people have been giving other people all the days of your political life. You can't expect the general public to take much interest in your present troubles."

"But this is the age of reform," came back Mr. Keating like a ball off a bat.

"I had forgotten that," said his friend.

ALLIES ARE BUSY.

There is evidence that the announcement made last night upon the authority of Representatives James Francis Burke, manager for Senator Knox, after he had been in conference with Senator Hemenway, of Indiana; J. B. Keating of Indiana, and others identified with the campaign being made by the allies, created dissension. Some of the other spokesmen for the allies declared the announcement to be ill advised, and they busied themselves today to counteract its effect.

It is generally believed the announcement last night was made to generally test public sentiment, and influence the Taft forces to a compromise proposition submitted to the committee yesterday just prior to adjournment. That the effect was not what the "allies" expected was admitted today by a number of men who had knowledge of the entire proceedings.

Senator Crane of Massachusetts, recognized as one of the chief advisers of the anti-Taft movement, said today the announcement should not have been made. Senator Hemenway characterized it as "unauthorized." Mr. Keating was not so emphatic, but he intimated that somebody had been dreaming. A. S. Humphreys, the Hughes manager, said he had not attended the conference, but that he had agreed to abide by any decision reached. Managers for Speaker Cannon and Senators La Follette and Foraker, were not parties to the announcement.

TAFT SEEMS SECURE.

It became known today that the adjournment of the National Committee yesterday was largely in the nature of a diplomatic proceeding. It had been suggested to Senator Lodge, an ardent supporter of Taft, that inasmuch as the nomination of Taft on the first ballot seemed highly probable, the remainder of the contests should be settled on a harmony basis. Among those who urged this plan were Chairman New, Secretary Dover, Committeemen Mulvane of Kansas; Hart of Iowa; Crane of Massachusetts; Scott of West Virginia; Ward of New York; Heyburn of Idaho; Brownlee of Tennessee and Scott of Alabama. The plan was not received with favor by many members of the committee who have dominated the proceedings from the start.

At the suggestion of Frank H. Hitchcock, manager for Taft and holder of the proxy of the New Mexico member, an adjournment was taken until Monday.

The Taft managers at once commenced a series of telegraph and telephonic communications between this city and Washington. Neither Mr. Hitchcock, or Charles P. Taft, brother of the Secretary of War, was inclined to yield to the overtures made. Both were embarrassed, however, by the appeals made by certain members of what is known as "the old guard" in the Republican ranks.

Before noon today Mr. Hitchcock had received from Washington an official indorsement of the "stand pat" position he had taken, and the statement was made that if the "allies" declined to continue their contests before the National Committee the temporary roll of the convention would be filled by the Taft delegates from the contested districts.

"ONLY A BLUFF."

"It is nothing but a bluff, and I am not going to be scared by it," said Mr. Hitchcock last night when told of the move of the Allies. This expression was not made for publication, but it was carried to the anti-Taft people.

It was also noised about that President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft had determined to hold the southern delegations which had been gained, and that no concessions could be expected from the Taft management. The effect of this announcement was immediate.

Conferences were again called by the Allies, but as before only representatives of Vice-President Fairbanks and Senator Knox, with Senator Crane, who in a general way seems to represent all of the anti-Taft people, were present.

Senator Crane denounced the plan of violating the regularity of the convention procedure and insisted that, regardless of the result, the contests should be continued before the National Committee. Senator Hemenway of Indiana joined in this opinion and it was agreed that all of the Allies should meet late today.

This conference, the last of an all-day series, was productive of the "Statement from the Allies."

CRANE ADMITS DEFEAT.

Senator Crane said today that after the contests brought by the anti-Taft delegations had been turned down by the National Committee, they would be submitted to the Credentials Com-

DEATH MADE PAINLESS.

Henry Bergh Invents New Gun for Executing Animals.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will experiment in a few days with a new method of killing animals.

Henry Bergh, treasurer and former president of the society, has invented an air gun of large size which shoots a javelin into the animal with a rapidity said to be so deadly the animal suffers no pain.

The instrument is pneumatic, and in appearance resembles a fireman's hose and nozzle, and is handled just like hose.

TOO MUCH SPEED.

PASSENGERS DIE IN CAR WRECK.

LOSE LIVES IN TROLLEY ACCIDENT AT ST. LOUIS.

Creve Coeur Car Jumps Track and Pitches Ten Feet Over Embankment, and Practically All of Its Ninety Passengers Are Either Killed or Injured.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At least one man was killed, a dozen fatally injured and practically all of the ninety passengers were hurt more or less seriously late tonight when an east-bound Creve Coeur car jumped the track at a curve 200 feet south of the Olive street road, three blocks west of the city limits, and pitched ten feet over an embankment.

Three of the passengers were so seriously injured that they will die, according to the physicians who were called to the scene. One of the car crew was dragged from beneath the motor box with his chest crushed in and both legs cut off. The other one was pitched from the platform several feet away from the car. He was knocked unconscious, but not seriously injured.

Half of the passengers on the car were women and children returning from picnics at the lake. Many women were pulled from under the wreckage of the car, unconscious and bleeding from their wounds. One child's throat was cut from ear to ear by being shoved against an iron bar of the window.

Up to midnight it was impossible to learn just how many had been killed. The reports received from the scene of the accident ranged from one to twelve. E. B. Smith of No. 3622 Olive street road, who was one of the first men on the spot after the car jumped the track, says that there were ten dead or so badly injured that they could not live.

The car was running at a high rate of speed when it struck the sharp curve.

Motorman Francis McEndree has been arrested.

The known dead man is Mr. Henry of Kirkwood, Mo.

The accident occurred two blocks west of the city limits, at a curve near the Olive street road. Hundreds of pleasure-seekers at Delmar Garden, near by, were quickly at the scene and carried people from under the wreckage. Night Police Chief Gillespie ordered every ambulance at the disposal of the city sent to the car sheds at De Baliviere and Delmar avenues, where the injured were taken. Physicians in that vicinity rendered first aid to the injured.

FLORIDA TO BE TARGET.

Is to Have Torpedo Sent Against Her Side to Test Strength of Bulkhead.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Sacrificed for the benefit of naval construction, the monitor Florida, shot two weeks ago with the heaviest naval gun, will, on Saturday, June 13, be punctured beneath her water line armor by the most powerful American Whitehead torpedoes.

The first demonstration was to test the respective strength of armor plate and explosive shell, and also to show the effectiveness of a new design of fighting mast.

The torpedo is to be sent into the Florida that it may be definitely known whether a water-tight bulkhead specially constructed within her, designed with all the most modern ideas of construction, can be depended upon to save a ship from destruction against this dangerous method of attack.

Secretary Metcalf has invited Secretary Taft to be his guest, probably on the Mayflower, to witness the demonstration.

TORNADO WRECKS HOMES.

Two Hundred Buildings in Charles City, Iowa, Demolished—One Man Known to Be Killed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHARLES CITY (Iowa) June 7.—A tornado struck this city at 5 o'clock this afternoon, demolishing about 200 residences and barns. One man, W. R. Breck, is known to have been killed, and four children are reported as missing.

The path of the tornado was about ten rods wide. It struck the city in the southwestern part, crossed the river at a point a quarter of a mile east of the bridge on Main street and lifted the water almost clean from the river bed. It passed in a northeasterly direction, just missing the Charles City College building, and spent itself a few miles from the city.

SCANDAL.

BRIBERY IS CHARGED.

Federal Officers Are Corrupted.

Government Scandal May Result from Suit Filed in Pittsburgh.

United States Cheated Out of Big Sum Alleged by Lawyers.

Purchased Site for Building at Five Times Value of Land.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Startling allegations are contained in an answer filed in court in connection with the Pittsburgh postoffice site which promises to open up a disgraceful transaction. According to this answer the government was cheated out of $85,750 in the purchase of the postoffice site at the exorbitant price of $942,228.40.

Of this, $85,750, it is alleged by the chief promoter, he paid $54,945 "to make the deal with the government." In other words, he paid that sum to certain persons in Washington to have the government take the site. The government paid $2000 a foot front, while property on either side has found no purchaser at $400 a foot front.

The original suit was instigated by Jesse H. Wise and William E. Minor, comprising the law firm of Wise & Minor, and joined with them in the litigation is Timothy Wise Carver. The suit is directed against John H. Armstrong, Snowden G. Lennox, "and their associates."

The plaintiffs demand payment for their share of the commission in the deal, alleging that they secured options on two of the parcels of property which they turned over to Armstrong, who was promoting the deal. For securing these two options Wise and Minor and Wise Carver demand $22,500.

The answer is filed by Armstrong, who is a prominent real estate broker, alone. He denies that the options of Wise and Minor were of any value and declares he and his associates procured the options that really resulted in the sale. He alleges that he paid Wise and Minor $4800 because they went to some trouble in securing the options in the first place and that he has a receipt from them in full.

New York Millionaire Ambushes Them, and Thrilling Fight With Repeating Rifles Follows.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSFIELD (Mass.) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Pollock, a New York millionaire, residing at No. 132 Madison avenue, prominent as a horse show patron, planned today to ambush on his country estate here, black-hand leaders who had threatened to kill him if he did not submit to blackmail.

A thrilling fight with repeating rifles resulted. Posses were scouring the woods near the Pollock home tonight in search of the gang.

Mrs. Pollock, who was Mrs. John Kernochan before her marriage to Mr. Pollock, is suffering from nervous shock. Armed guards are patrolling the estate to prevent the carrying out of a threat to dynamite the residence.

PLAGUE IS SPREADING.

Disease Has Now Appeared at Caracas, Six Cases Being Reported at That Point.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILLEMSTAD (Curacao) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Six cases of plague at Caracas have just been reported here. This is a new outbreak.

In La Guayra the situation is reported as not reassuring. New cases are reported every day, and the plague fund subscribed by the merchants and other wealthy citizens is exhausted. La Guayra is still shut off from the world, although President Castro issued a decree May 29 opening the port. The continuance of the plague, as shown by the numerous new cases, has made it dangerous to open the port.

SAIL ABOVE THE CLOUDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. G. L. Bumbaugh, who operates a balloon factory at No. 1349 South Thirteenth street, will make a second attempt to reach the Pacific Coast in a balloon on July 4th, in a flight from Chicago.

The craft will be the "Chicago," in which Capt. Bumbaugh made an 800-mile trip on June 2, and he will be accompanied by his companion on that flight, C. A. Coey, the balloon's owner. He returned yesterday from Clear Lake, S. D., where he and Coey landed.

Bumbaugh hopes the next trip will not be quite so thrilling as the other, when his balloon, in the grasp of a roaring gale, was hurled at express train speed in the darkness through banks of clouds and pouring rain.

To escape the downpour, the dripping balloonists threw out all their ballast and soared to a height of 7000 feet, far above the clouds, which heaved like an angry sea beneath them, illuminated by flashes of lightning.

DASHED TO DEATH.

LIMP PARACHUTE TELLS SAD TALE.

WARNS WATCHING FATHER OF FATE OF SON.

Young Man Attempted Ascent in Balloon, but Was Dashed Against Limb of Dead Tree and Skull Was Fractured as Soon as Airship Was Liberated.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A balloon, drifting across the sky with the parachute hanging limply, brought the first tidings this evening to L. M. Jones of St. Louis that his son, Luther Edward Jones, had been dashed to death at Mildred Park. The young man met his horrible fate in the presence of a throng of horrified spectators numbering many women.

Knowing that the young aëronaut was to make the ascent, the father watched the sky in the direction of Mildred Park. Just as he reached the station the big balloon came into sight. Instead of his son, whom he expected to see hanging from the parachute bars, the horrified father saw the attachments swinging loosely from the balloon. The father hastened to the park as quickly as possible. Before he reached there, the ambulance bearing the lifeless body of his son met him on its way to the city.

Young Jones, who was 27 years old and an expert in his line, was dashed against the branch of a dead tree a second after the big balloon was let go from the ground. His skull was fractured by the blow, and the life belt, which was attached to the parachute, was torn loose. Without his even uttering a cry, the lifeless body was hurled downward into the midst of the crowd.

AROUSED.

WILL OUST TEACHERS WITH WHITE PLAGUE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before adjourning last night, the Anti-Tuberculosis League, which held a three days' session here, passed resolutions to determine the best method of ousting consumptive teachers who are spreading the disease in the schools, and endangering the lives of the pupils.

Another resolution was made that persons suffering from tuberculosis carry with them a can in which to spit, instead of a handkerchief.

Steps were also taken to secure legislation requiring all railroads to run special coaches for consumptives, that the spread of the disease from that quarter may be curbed.

Tuberculosis is contagious, it is communicable, it is preventable, it is curable. These were the four great thoughts which are placed forcibly before the public. A national war against the disease will be directed from St. Louis.

The convention has given so great an impetus to the movement against tuberculosis, in all its phases, that when all know the terrible menace to life it is there will be a concerted movement against it, and its end will not be long in coming.

It is believed by those who have made a life study of the dread tuberculosis that when the people thoroughly realize the risk they run every day of their lives from contagion in their homes, the streets, the theaters and the cars, they will fight it as they have never fought anything before, and the germ of the disease will be stamped out.

The death rate from consumption is nearly six times greater than from any other communicable, contagious or infectious disease. It costs the country about 200,000 lives annually, and entails in economic loss of more than $1,000,000,000. It is reported that the fraternal insurance organizations pay for consumption annually $10,000,000 out of $70,000,000 benefits. This has caused the fraternal societies to enter the war against tuberculosis by means of educating their members.

FOUL AIR KILLS SIX.

Heroes Give up Lives for Comrades.

Five Die in Effort to Save Three in a Colorado Mine.

Enter Shaft Unhesitatingly When Fans Are Wrecked by Fire.

One of the Imprisoned Men Succumbs, but Others Are Saved.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SILVERTON (Colo.) June 7.—Six men are dead, eight others are in a dangerous condition from breathing foul air, and twenty-five to thirty were temporarily confined to their homes from weakness due to contact with poisoned air in the Gold King mine, located at Gladstone, six miles from here.

The dead are:

PETER M'NINY.
ROY COBURN.
ALEX JOHNSON.
A. W. BURNS.
VICTOR ERICKSON.
GUS OLSEN.

On Thursday night fire was discovered in the engine-room of the mine and before it could be brought under control, that building had been destroyed, as well as the shaft-house. The two buildings were located near the portal door of the main shaft and to prevent the spread of the flames and accumulation of smoke in the workings of the mine, these doors were closed temporarily. Before taking the precautionary move, the men working the night shift in the mine were hurriedly notified of the condition of the surface, and instructed to withdraw.

When the flames had been extinguished, in order to make sure that all was well with the mine, the fan was checked up. The discovery was made then that three men were missing. Immediately efforts to rescue them were started, with but little hope of reaching them alive, as the machinery operating the fans had been put out of commission by the destruction of the engine-house and any pure air that might have reached them from the surface had been shut off by the closing of the portal doors.

The first men to enter the mine returned in haste and informed those waiting that the mine was filled with foul air, and it was almost impossible to breathe it. The men all expressed a willingness to risk contact with the foul air if the missing men could be rescued, and accordingly two rescue parties were formed, and the men started into the mine, by means of the electric elevator, which fortunately was still working.

Instructions were given that as soon as any one showed signs of faintness, the rest were to immediately bring him to the surface. The air generated by the motion of the elevator had cleared the atmosphere in the elevator shaft so that but little discomfort was experienced there.

Soon after a score or more of rescuers had entered the mine some of the first to appeared at the foot of the elevator shaft carrying the unconscious forms of rescuers who had succumbed to the noxious air. Later a party reached the surface bringing the dead body of Victor Erickson, and the almost lifeless bodies of John Funston and Otto Johnson, the three men whose absence caused the necessity for rescue work.

It seems that these three had found a spot where the air was not so foul as in the other portions of the mine, and Funston and Johnson had been able to live through it.

The rescuers who brought these men to the surface reported that many of their companions had been overcome by the foul air and were lying in the drifts in the mine.

Instantly there was a clamor among the men at the surface to go to the aid of their fellow-workers, and it was almost impossible to keep them from overcrowding the elevator, which was kept in almost continuous motion, carrying men in and from the carried in their arms the bodies of mines. Those coming to the surface half-suffocated men, several of whom died after reaching the surface.

It was many hours before a thorough search of the underground workings was completed, and report was made that everyone had been accounted for. When the lists were totalled it was found that five men had heroically given up their lives for their comrades, and that many others were in a serious condition and may never recover entirely from the effects of breathing the poison.

It was not until 4 o'clock this morning that work was abandoned. The property loss to the mine was less than $10,000.

City Attorney of Washington Decides Eight Miles an Hour Limit for Patrol Wagons Also.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eight miles an hour is the limit in Washington for fire engines, patrol wagons and ambulances.

No matter what the emergency, conflagration, riot or street car crash, the "hurry" wagon of the city will hurry no more.

Four Hundred Families Move in Kansas City.

Teamsters Arrested for Exorbitant Charges.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 7.—The steady rise of the Kaw River today caused almost a panic in North Topeka and the Armourdale section of Kansas City, Kan., and there was a rush of families to remove their household goods from their homes to higher lands.

In Armourdale, more than 400 families moved their furniture and the stampede was becoming general when the police intervened. They arrested expressmen who were frightening householders and obtaining exorbitant prices for moving their goods. The drainage board issued a statement saying that a rise of eight feet more would be necessary to flood Armourdale.

Packinghouses and other establishments in the bottoms have removed the contents of their basements into upper floors.

At midnight the Missouri here had reached the danger line of 21 feet, but was almost at a standstill and was carrying off the waters from the Kaw River easily.

The weather bureau gave assurance that the crest of the flood is almost reached.

The railroads are the heaviest sufferers from the flood, miles of track being washed out in various places and bridges damaged.

Government Officials Give Warning of Continued Increase Until Four to Six Feet Higher by Tonight and People Abandon Houses in Search for Safety.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) June 7.—With the Kansas River barely below the flood stage, and rising steadily at the rate of about an inch an hour, and a warning by the government officials that a rise of from four to six feet will occur by Monday night, there is a great exodus of people from North Topeka this afternoon.

Every transfer wagon, delivery wagon and other vehicles was pressed into service.

The rise of four to six feet is based on present conditions, with no additional rains. Threatening weather is reported from the headwaters of the Kaw, and further rains tonight are probable.

The government warning issued this afternoon says:

"At this hour the reports from the rivers above indicate a further rise of from four to six feet at Topeka by Monday night. This will make a stage of about twenty-six feet by the government gauge."

The river here tonight registered a fraction over twenty-two feet. At Junction City both the electric and the Union Pacific tracks were under water, between the city and Fort Riley. An inch and a half of rain fell last night and today, and the weather continues threatening. Heavy rains fell last night and today at Ottawa and Ellis, and a fall of five inches is reported at Lincoln Center. A two-inch rain fell at Abilene.

At St. Marys heavy rains fell, and a span of the wagon bridge went out today, when a large number of people were on it. Many narrowly escaped drowning.

The Republican River is reported to be rising rapidly, and the Smoky Hill is about at a standstill. The Union Pacific trains to the west are cut off between here and Manhattan, and between Manhattan and Clifton.

REJECTS APPROPRIATION.

Duma Will Not Authorize Expenditure of Money for Construction of Battleships.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—The Duma last night, 194 to 78, rejected the item in the naval budget appropriating $5,000,000 to lay the keels of four battleships during the current year.

This vote is tantamount to a vote of lack of confidence in the present officials of the Ministry of Marine, and wholesale resignations from the ministry are expected to follow.

Premier Stolypin made his final effort to secure naval appropriations, though he was obliged to acknowledge he was speaking on a lost cause. M. Guchkoff, Octobrist, in his argument supporting the proposal that the propositions be rejected, attacked ex-Viceroy Alexieff by name, and charged him with responsibility for the disaster sustained in the Russo-Japanese War.

M. Guchkoff demanded the appointment of a commission to investigate conditions in the admiralty and the fleet, and to report to the Emperor and the Duma.

Daughters of C. J. L. Meyer, Have Always Stood Ready to Render Father Financial Aid.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Relatives of C. J. L. Meyer, former railroad and lumber magnate, resent the publicity that has been given his poverty and his appeal for charity, and say that if he had made his need known to them direct his trouble would never have become public.

They declare his daughters always have been ready to help him, but that he has always declined their aid.

Mrs. Henry W. Moore of Fond du Lac, a daughter, has telephoned to E. H. Bottum of Milwaukee, the family lawyer, to meet Mr. Meyer in Oshkosh, and make any arrangements desired for his aid.

mittee of the convention and later to the convention itself, but that he did not doubt that the result would be the sustaining of the National Committee.

If the Taft managers hold by their declarations, and it is evident that the attitude of the managers of the local headquarters reflects the situation in Washington, concessions to the anti-Taft camp can be gained by a complete surrender of all opposition. It was announced today that Arthur L. Vorys, another of the managers for Taft, will arrive here tomorrow. Representative McKinley, chief of the Cannon forces, and Senator Dick, who is looking after the interests of Senator Foraker, are also expected.

All of the contests still to be settled are brought by negro voters instructed for Senator Foraker, excepting four districts in Kentucky, which are claimed for Vice-President Fairbanks, and two in Missouri, which are claimed for Hughes.

It was rumored here tonight, but not confirmed, that Senator Dick will order that many of the Foraker contests be defaulted in the interest of Secretary Taft.

The committee will begin work again at 10 o'clock tomorrow, taking up, first, the contests of the Third Florida District.

HANDS OFF.

WILL ATTEMPT NO DICTATION.

NO MEDDLING IN VICE-PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft Determined to Bring no Pressure to Bear on National Convention in Matter of Selection of Running Mate for Latter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Neither President Roosevelt nor Secretary Taft will make any attempt to dictate the selection of the Vice-Presidential candidate at Chicago.

The administration generally will concentrate itself with the adoption of a satisfactory platform, and with the nomination of Secretary Taft. Otherwise, no effort will be put forth from Washington to run the convention, and in particular there will be no state-making for the sake of securing the nomination of some one man for Vice-President.

As a matter of course, Secretary Taft's friends want to see a strong man put on the ticket with him, but the Secretary of War is opposed to being put in the position of attempting to dictate to the convention in any way.

A combination shows the Vice-Presidential possibilities, eliminating the nobodies and impossibilites as follows: Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa, George B. Cortelyou of New York, J. Franklin Fort of New Jersey, Murray Crane of Massachusetts, Gov. Deneen of Illinois, James S. Sherman of New York, Senator Long of Kansas, Gov. Cummins of Iowa, and George A. Knight of California.

Of these the sentiment here seems to be pretty equally divided as between Vice-President Fairbanks and Senator Dolliver. If anything, the Fairbanks sentiment in and out of Congress has developed more than anything else since the holidays.

IMPORTANT PLANKS.

PLATFORM HAS BEEN COMPLETED.

FRIENDS OF LEADERS THINK FEW DETAILS REMAIN.

Work Done by Author of Ohio Declaration of Principals Aided by Statesmen in Washington—Plank Favors Admission of New Mexico and Arizona Separately.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 7.—That the platform, which will be adopted at the Chicago convention and on which the Republican party will stand during the next campaign, has been completed with the exception of a few details, which will be left for the Committee on Resolutions to insert, is the opinion of many who are in the confidence of the Republican leaders.

The work has been done by Wade Ellis, Attorney-General of Ohio, the draftsman of the recent Ohio State platform; Senator Hopkins of Illinois, who will be the chairman of the Committee on Resolutions; Senator Long of Kansas, and a few others, including the President and Secretary Taft, who have been freely consulted.

The policies of President Roosevelt will be indorsed unequivocally, and this indorsement will be the central idea of the document. These policies will be set forth as the embodiment of the principles of the Republican party, whose achievements will be lauded as at all times wise and beneficial; as ever in the interest of the people.

These principles, it will be declared, are quite in contrast with the policies of the Democratic party, which, as embodied in the public utterances of the leaders, it will be laid, promise nothing good that can be assured of accomplishment.

RECORD OF PARTY.

The Republican party's record as the party of protection and sound money, as the party of progress and good principles, as the party that gave freedom to Cuba, and lifted the yoke from the necks of the people of the Philippines and from Porto Rico, will be upheld for admiration and made the subject of much praise, and the voting power will be asked to continue to patronize the political craft that has carried it across so many streams.

Specifically speaking, more attention has been given by the platform makers to the tariff than to any other subject. There will be an equivocal declaration for revision, but the disposition is to leave the working out of details to the ingenuity of Congress.

The action of the two houses of Congress is instructing the two committees that will deal with the tariff, to make a special investigation of the situation, course as the results of these inquiries will be unavailable to the convention, while they supposedly will furnish Congress with a basis for action.

This preparatory step will be indorsed and there will be a general pronouncement in favor of such changes in the schedules as the advance of times and the progress of the country may have made necessary since the enactment of the Dingley law. The declaration will take the shape of appearing to so equalize the duties as to give the consumer the benefit of the most favorable prices consistent with the protection of domestic industries and home labor.

PROTECTION INDORSED.

It will be emphatically stated that there must be no innovation that will permit American labor to come into competition with foreign labor, and accordingly it will be specified that in all cases the duty must be equal to the differences between the American and the European cost of production. The principle of protection will be indorsed in general terms, and there may be a declaration favorable to a maximum and minimum tariff as the one best calculated to insure the promotion insure the promotion of American interests under varying conditions.

Next to the tariff, the financial plank has received most careful attention, but the enactment of the emergency currency law just before the close of the recent session of Congress, has rendered the preparation of this plank much simpler than it would have been if there had been no such legislation. Congress will be congratulated on the Aldrich-Vreeland bill as in the interest of sound finance and as calculated to protect the business world against possible panics in the near future and at the same time provide for the permanent improvement of our currency system through the recommendations which it is anticipated will be made by the commission appointed under the new law.

Reference will be made to the financial disturbance of last fall, and while the seriousness of that crisis will be recognized, the claim will be made that the Republican party was found able to meet the situation, and the country will be informed that by its prompt action the business world was saved from long drawn out financial depression and industrial inactivity.

EQUAL TO EMERGENCY.

The country will be accordingly congratulated upon the fact that when this emergency arose the Republican party was in power, and in position to come to the rescue. The Republican administration will also be complimented on the passage during the Fifty-ninth Congress of the railroad rate law, and this legislation will be pointed to as a sample of the legislation the party will give to the country at large, in case it is given such a lease of power as to afford it sufficient time for the changes which are believed to be desirable.

The President also will be given much credit for recent legislation looking to preservation of the forests, conservation of the natural resources in the interest of the entire country and reclamation of timber lands of the West.

The President's attitude in the matter of the general protection of the resources of the country will be favorably commented on as indicating the best course for future legislation. His position in favor of deepening the channel of the Mississippi River and general improvement of the inland waterways will come in for indorsement, as will his vigorous work in prosecuting construction of the Panama canal.

TO PROTECT RAILROADS.

The convention will place itself on record as favoring such an amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law as will enable the railroads to enter into reasonable traffic agreements without taking the risk of prosecution in the criminal courts.

Probably also, there will be a declaration in favor of registration of certain corporations having the means to become monopolies, engaged in interstate commerce, so as to give the national government such supervision over them as is now exercised over transportation agencies. In this connection there will be a pronouncement in favor of national control as against national ownership.

Cognizance will be taken of the demands of labor to the extent of recommending such legislation as will insure labor organizations against snap judgment by the courts in the issuance of injunctions without due notice of necessary hearing.

A recommendation for the removal of the triple penalty in conspiracy prosecutions, when such prosecutions are directed against labor organizations.

TRUST REGULATION.

There will be a trust resolution along the lines of that embraced in the platform of 1900, when the necessity and propriety of honest colleration and combination was realized to meet new conditions, and extend American trade in foreign countries, but when conspiracies which create monopolies, limit production and control prices, were pointedly condemned.

Much care will be given to the plank dealing with the Philippines and Cuba. The pacific attitude of this country toward Cuba will be held to have been demonstrated by the present relationship of the two countries, and by the generally known fact that, having restored peace and order to that island, the United States is now preparing to bring its protectorate to an end, and remove the evidences of its control.

Our management of affairs in the Philippines will be extolled; it will be agreed that the Philippines are prospering and improving under the present administration of affairs, and it will probably be set forth that to abandon those islands before our work there is finished, and the Filipino people made ready for self-government, would be inhuman, unwise and in every way unjustifiable.

As usual, the platform will declare for protection of the civil liberties of the negro race. A special effort will be made to have this plank comprehensive and emphatic.

TO ENLARGE NAVY.

There will be a strong declaration in favor of continued improvement of the navy, including constant increases of our battleships, with the end in view of protecting our interests abroad, maintaining our standing among the nations and supporting the Monroe doctrine, which doctrine will again receive unqualified indorsement. There will be a word in favor of the maintenance of the army on its present basis, but no recommendation for its enlargement.

The action of Congress increasing the pensions of the widows of soldiers will be commended, and a liberal pension policy for the future will be advocated.

Among other recommendations that will be made will be the following:

For admission at the next session of Congress of Arizona and New Mexico as separate States of the Union; for protection of American citizens abroad; for fostering of our commerce in the Orient; for the open door in China; for exclusion of coolie labor, whether Chinese or Japanese; strong recommendation of the present civil service policy; indorsement of the plan to grant a subsidy in the interest of the ocean mails to South America and Australasia, and for the encouragement of American shipping generally.

There will be a demand for the continuation of the policies of the present administration toward corporations. Attention will be called to the wisdom of carrying into effect all the recommendations of the President and the necessity for a "square deal all around;" for the enforcement of the law without regard to persons or places, and for the equal protection of all under the law will be emphasized.

FEMALE POLITICIANS GATHER.

WORKING FOR CANDIDATES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "suffragettes" are not the only women on this flighty old globe who take an interest now and then in the shifting of the political tides. The "suffragettes" are admitted to be fond of taking sides and letting loose certain yarns of ratiocination upon occasion, but that's not the whole story—not by several chapters.

Right here in Chicago at this present moment there is a group of women who have the most vital interest in politics. These women are not going to visit the stock yards, nor the Columbia Museum. They do not look upon the convention as a vacation.

GREAT DAMAGE.

FLOOD LOSSES REACH MILLIONS.

MONTANA RAILROADS ARE THE CHIEF SUFFERERS.

Nearly Dozen People Drowned by Torrents That Swept State—End of Spring Rains Thought to Have Come—Fair Weather Will Melt Deep Snow in Mountains.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With uninterrupted sunshine today, the end of the spring rains is believed to have come, thus bringing to a close the worst floods in the history of the State, involving the drowning of nearly a dozen persons and the destruction of property valued at millions of dollars.

The list of known dead are:

Gentry Baker and wife of Cascade county; unknown Beaver Head county ranchman; Patrick Morrissey, Silver Bow county, ranchman; unknown farm hand near Townsend; two Chinese residing in valley below Helena; two Dick children of Cascade; William McFadden, ranch foreman.

The railroads have been the chief sufferers, every line in the State having been involved to a greater or less extent. The new line of the St. Paul has suffered in both Eastern and Western Montana, the new roadbed proving an easy victim along Hell Gate and Mussell Shoal rivers. The Northern Pacific is opened to the eastward from Helena, but it is not expected that western traffic can be resumed for several days.

The Great Northern is still tied up in Northwestern and Central Montana, and the Oregon Short Line in Southern Montana. The latter expects to resume operation of trains tomorrow.

The chief damage to railroad property has been through landslides, the washing out of bridges and roadbed. Streams, ordinarily miniature and peaceful, have developed into raging torrents, the rains having been augmented by melting snows in the mountains.

Street car traffic has been more or less impeded in Helena and Butte through flooded tracks, while throughout the State houses have been inundated by the score. The East Helena smelter of the American Smelting and Refining Company is closed down as are many of the Butte mines, the latter because ore shipment cannot be handled.

The rains have not been without their advantages, however, assuring bumper grain crops and an unprecedented range, as well as insuring for placer mining, spring and water holes for stock. Farmers declare the loss to others will be more than repaid to them in increased output.

NEW WASHOUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUTTE (Mont.) June 7.—The Northern Pacific east from Butte, is again tied up today by a new washout of 600 feet of track, near Jefferson Island, a small station in the Jefferson River Valley, sixty miles from Butte.

Two steel trestles on the Great Northern are reported as having gone out near Basin, thirty-five miles north of Butte, adding to the demoralization of that road. Great Northern officials this evening will not venture an opinion as to when normal conditions will be restored, one official stating that, in his belief, a month's time would be necessary to put the Montana line of the Northern Pacific in proper conditions.

The Great Northern telegraphic service is completely demoralized, and the officials fear they have yet to learn of the real magnitude of the destruction wrought by the flood.

MEMORIAL.

WANT COURTS TO BE UPHELD.

Prominent Republicans Ask for It in Platform.

Petition Convention to Support Judiciary.

Desire to Forestall Action of the Democrats.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—A large number of representative public men have united in a memorial to be presented to the New York member of the Committee on Resolutions of the Republican National Convention, and to the chairman of the Resolutions Committee, asking for a strong plank affirming confidence in the judiciary of the country, as a bulwark for the maintenance of the American system of government.

The memorial is signed by four former Cabinet officers, Cornelius N. Bliss, Thomas L. James, Benjamin F. Tracy and John W. Griggs, and Judge Charles Andrews, former chief judge of the Court of Appeals; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, Judge William J. Wallace, formerly Federal Circuit judge; President James M. Taylor of Vassar; Barton Hepburn, D. O. Mills, Joseph H. Choate and others.

The memorial is as follows:

"The undersigned Republicans, having in mind the attack upon the courts made by the platform and candidate of the Democratic party in 1896, and having reason to believe that a similar attack is contemplated in the Presidential campaign of 1908, do earnestly request the Committee on Resolutions to include in its report to the Republican National Convention the following declaration:

"'We reaffirm our confidence in the integrity and justice of the courts, State and national, and we insist that the preservation of their independence and full legislation prerogatives is essential to the maintenance of the American system of government.'"

DRUGGIST DEALS DEATH.

Kills His Wife and Commits Suicide in San Francisco While Jealous and Despondent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Jealousy and despondency today drove George Scott, a drug clerk, to kill his wife and end his own life.

The tragedy occurred on the sidewalk near the corner of Golden Gate avenue and Webster street at 7 o'clock this morning. Scott fired two shots at his wife, and both bullets took effect, her death being almost instantaneous. Scott then shot himself, and died in half an hour.

Scott was 22 years old, while his wife was 19. They were married two years ago in Chicago, and had been here three months. Recently they quarreled, and Mrs. Scott had her husband arrested for threats against her life. He was released on a promise to leave town, which he did not do. He then caused the arrest of his wife and Lloyd Kincaid on a serious charge.

Mrs. Scott went to work as a waitress in a restaurant at No. 861 McAllister street, and declined to return to her husband. Some days ago Scott attempted suicide, but was prevented from carrying out his purpose. Last night he sought to borrow a revolver, saying he wanted to kill his wife and end his own life. His friend refused to allow him to take the weapon.

UP AND DOWN THE VALLEY.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today was the hottest day of the year and everybody who could hied himself to pleasant parks and the baseball games. The Government Weather Office recorded 88 deg. at 3 o'clock this afternoon, which means about 95 deg. on the street level. The excessive heat was general throughout the country, Cheyenne being the only cool place with a temperature of 50 deg. Southern records ranged from 90 to 92 degs. The maximum in Chicago was 85, with a minimum of 68 degs. Middle West temperatures at 7 o'clock:

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Princess Alice," Mrs. Alice Roosevelt-Longworth, wife of Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, O., will arrive in Chicago this week to attend the national Republican convention. Mrs. Longworth, who is the nearest relative of President Roosevelt to attend the convention, is an ardent admirer of Secretaary Taft and may be counted on to do her part in furthering the interests of his candidacy.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Governors of forty States and Mayors of 105 cities will be represented at the meeting of the National Good Roads Congress in Chicago on June 15, a day ahead of the Republican National Convention. Prominent citizens of this and foreign countries interested in the improvement of highways will gather to discuss the best methods of consolidating national, State and municipal effort along this line.

JOB FOR FAIRBANKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vice-President Fairbanks has been invited to present the prizes in the "big hat" competition at a local amusement park on the evening of June 15, which already shows an entry list of 318 women. It is prophesied that the contest will afford the spectators the most unusual millinery exhibit ever seen in the city.

CHINESE PRIEST SPEAKS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Father Peter Du Chang of Canton, China, the first native Chinese priest to visit Chicago, preached tonight in St. Michael's Church. The Rev. Mr. Chang told of the difficulties and obstacles the missionaries meet and overcome in spreading the gospel among the Chinese people, taking as the subject of his sermon the Chinese saying, "Where Confucious is, Christianity Cannot Be."

PREACHER SCORES POLITICS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The coming Republican National Convention is the ancient insolence of the self-conceited," declared the Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins in a sermon delivered before the congregation of the Pilgrim Congregational Church today. "To have delegates instructed, candidates selected and platforms made beforehand is the old attempt of the few to rule the many," said the Rev. Mr. Hopkins. "It is as much as to say: 'You poor, weak-minded common herd, you can't think; we'll think for you.'"

FEAR BUTTER FAMINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago is in danger of a butter famine. Before Interstate Commerce Commissioners Prouty of Vermont and Hirian of Illinois in the Federal building next Wednesday morning sixteen of the largest butter manufacturers in the United States will testify against twenty transcontinental railroads and express companies to prevent the proposed advanced tariffs on cream and milk that will make an average increase of from 66 2-3 to 125 per cent. on freight rates.

Animal's Gaze Revealed Hiding-place of Girl Who Was Living With Boy Companion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A search instituted yesterday for sixteen-year-old Alice Sutton, daughter of a well-known resident of Fox avenue, in this city, ended last night when the girl was discovered living with a youth named Edward Sanchez in a barn at Julian and Autumn streets.

Sanchez was accused of felony, and is being held in default of $5000 bail.

The girl had been missing for a day and night when her father, J. F. Sutton, requested the aid of the police. Policeman Humbuty learned from little children living near the Sanchez home

Ogilvie's company has a commission for dredging many miles of the Stewart. After years of prospecting pay streaks have been uncovered on its upper tributaries. Beginning this year the Stewart will become a regular gold producer. Ogilvie has handled millions for others, but this will be his first personal clean-up.

SAVES HER PROPERTY.

Nevada Woman Charters Automobile, and Moves House on to Lot Coveted by Jumpers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Alice McDonald, one of the pioneers of the new camp of Horseriver, in Southern Nevada, used heroic measures to prevent one of her lots from being jumped by squatters yesterday.

She owns considerable property, and learning an effort was to be made to dispossess her of one lot, she decided to move a house upon it. She purchased the building, but when it was mounted on skids there were not enough horses in camp to move the structure. Not daunted, she chartered an automobile, with the aid of ropes, fastened the building to the rear of the machine and with the full forty-horse power turned on, the building was pulled on skids to the lot just ahead of those who were intent on securing it.

Mrs. McDonald, who came to Nevada from San Francisco several months ago, is now in possession of both house and lot, and vows she will remain in control at any cost.

Record-breaking Crowd Attends Baccalaureate Services of University of Nevada at Reno.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, JUNE 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Never in the history of the University of Nevada has a larger crowd attended the baccalaureate services than today, when Rev. Father A. C. Ramm of San Francisco addressed the students and their friends. The big gymnasium was crowded to its capacity.

Among the distinguished visitors were Clarence W. Mackay and wife and Col. Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly and the North American Review, who are here to attend the ceremonies of dedicating the new Mackay school of mines building and the unveiling of the statue of the late John W. Mackay, which will take place Wednesday.

Tonight Mackay and his party were guests at a reception tendered them by Oscar J. Smith and family.

Mrs. Mackay, mother of Clarence, has written to the university expressing her regret at being unable to attend the ceremonies, but pledging her support to the college.

PORTLAND, June 7.—Miss Helen F. Spaulding, Mrs. L. W. Sitton, Miss Sitton and Mrs. Gale, four of the most prominent ladies of this city, had an escape from death yesterday which was nothing short of miraculous.

They were returning in an automobile from Oswego, six miles south of Portland, and while descending a steep hill, where the road skirts a gorge 100 feet or more deep, the steering gear got out of order, the chauffeur lost control of the machine and it pitched over the brink of the gulch.

The vehicle slid some distance down the hill without overturning, and lodged against a tree.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

TWO SHIPS SAIL TODAY.

Maine and Alabama Start on Globe-Girdling Trip.

Due at Hampton Roads on October Twenty-second.

Nebraska and Wisconsin Will Take Their Places.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Leaving the warships of the Atlantic fleet to follow a month later, the battleships Maine and Alabama, designated as a special service squadron, will sail from this port tomorrow morning on the long voyage to Hampton Roads by way of Honolulu, Manila, Aden and Suez Canal.

Capt. Giles B. Hardber of the Maine will be in command of the special squadron, and on the first leg of the long cruise home will have a member of the President's Cabinet—Secretary of the Interior James A. Garfield—as a guest and passenger. Secretary Garfield arrived from Washington today, and will go to Honolulu on the Maine, where he will study the labor question, immigration problem, commercial development of the islands and the coastwise trade.

Tonight the two battleships, lying with others in Man-of-War Row in the harbor, are spick and span for the reception of Secretary Garfield, who will be received with a salute of thirteen guns, not only from the Maine, as he boards that vessel, but from Rear-Admiral Sperry's flagship, the Connecticut, which came from dry dock yesterday and anchored at the head of the column of the two divisions.

The Maine and the Alabama are the two first ships of the big fleet that came through the Straits of Magellan to turn their bows homeward, and will complete the trip around the world, ahead of the flagship Connecticut and the remainder of the fleet, arriving at Hampton Roads on October 22, ten months from the time they left there on their record-breaking cruise.

They will arrive at Honolulu on June 17 and remain there five days; will touch Guam on July 7, and will reach Manila July 21. This will be the last American port to be entered by them until they reach Hampton Roads. On July 29 they will sail from Manila, touching at Singapore on August 3, and Colombo on August 14, and pass through the Suez Canal September 5. They are scheduled to arrive at Naples September 10, remaining there a week, and arriving at Gibraltar September 20.

The dropping of the Maine and the Alabama from the main fleet is due, one to her limited capacity, and the other to inferior engines. The steaming radius of the Maine without recoaling is limited to 2700 miles, and there is a stretch of 4000 miles of water after the fleet leaves Honolulu before it reaches New Zealand. The engines of the Alabama, it is said, are not equal to those of the other battleships, and it is feared that she might retard the progress of the fleet should they break down.

When the Atlantic fleet sails through the Golden Gate on July 7, homeward bound, via Honolulu, the antipodes, Manila and Suez, the battleships Nebraska and Wisconsin will be in line in place of the Maine and Alabama.

Famous Flower Fete Opens Week of Gaiety Marking Height of the Paris Season.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, June 7.—The coming week marks the height of the Paris season, and the city is crowded to overflowing with American and other foreign visitors.

The famous flower fete took place yesterday on the Bois de Bolougne, John A. Thayer and wife of Boston winning the first prize for the most beautifully decorated vehicle.

The grand steeplechase for a purse of $25,000, was made a great society event here today. President Fallieres and the whole of fashionable Paris witnessed the race, which was won by Eugene Fischoff's Dandola.

A tournament which will include fencing bouts, tennis and boat races, will be held throughout the week. The season will end next Sunday, with the Grand Prix at Longchamps, in which Signorinetta, the winner of the English Derby and the Oaks, is entered. It is announced that Signor Giristrelli will withdraw his filly, as he prefers not to risk the journey, and desires to give her a rest.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

President Roosevelt has directed that during July, August and September, all employés of the navy yards and naval stations be given a half holiday on Saturday.

In the presence of a large crowd, a life-sized statute in bronze, of President McKinley, erected on the South Plaza of the City Hall, Philadelphia, through private subscriptions of citizens of Philadelphia and vicinity, was unveiled Saturday.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, sailed yesterday after a sojourn in this country of five weeks, which he declared to have been the most eventful of his life.

Physicians attending Oliver H. P. Belmont, who is ill from peritonitis, following an operation for appendicitis, at his country estate in Hempstead, L. I., stated last night that the condition of the patient was somewhat improved. His condition is still critical, however.

GRIM.

DEATH GRINS AT AUTOISTS.

Architect and Three Women Escape Narrowly.

Their Machine Smashed by Swift-Moving Car.

Injuries Fortunately Only Cuts and Bruises.

Architect John Parkinson and three companions narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon when his Peerless touring automobile was wrecked by a West Ninth-street car at Ninth and Flower streets. Mrs. Parkinson, her sister, Miss B. H. Breckenfeld, and Miss H. Hawkins, a guest of the family, from Mexico, were in the machine, but all escaped luckily with hardly a scratch.

It was a close call, however, for Miss Hawkins, who was on the front seat with Mr. Parkinson. When the crash came she was thrown against a telephone pole and it at first seemed to her companions that she must be badly hurt. They were overjoyed to find that she suffered only a few bruises.

That the party was not ground beneath the wheels of the street car, or crushed under the wrecked machine, is due to the presence of mind of Parkinson, who turned his steering wheel just as the car struck him. The machine was lifted on the fender of the car and was shot to the curb, where it crashed against a telephone post without being overturned. Parkinson was jammed against the steering wheel, but escaped with bruises.

When the accident happened the Peerless was being driven north on Flower street, and on approaching the crossing Parkinson was driving at the rate of about eighteen miles an hour. Tall buildings make it impossible to see for any distance along Ninth street. The car was going west on Ninth street almost at full speed.

When it was too late to stop, Parkinson saw the car. He opened his throttle wide and tried to cross in front of it, but failed.

The bonnet of the automobile was demolished, the lights were smashed, and the footboard was wrenched off. The front axle was twisted, and the two front tires were torn from the rims. The forward end of the street car was damaged and several panes of glass were broken. To repair the automobile will cost about $500.

A physician was hastily called to attend the ladies, but they needed little attention. Mrs. Parkinson and her sister, who were in the tonneau, were hurled violently against the sides of the machine, but beyond a severe shock they were uninjured. The position of Parkinson and his companion on the front seat was more precarious.

"We had a lucky escape," said the architect yesterday. "I was driving at the rate of about eighteen miles an hour, and could not see the car until it was too late. I turned toward the curb just as the coach struck us, and I suppose that is why the machine was not overturned. We were jammed against the pole as the car mounted the curb.

"That crossing is dangerous because the buildings make it impossible to see approaching cars. The electric that hit my machine was moving at top speed. I could not stop, so I shot ahead as fast as possible. When the car struck us it looked pretty bad for a moment, but we came out of it wonderfully well."

REACHES THEIR HEARTS.

TEARS SHED AT PARTING WORDS.

OCCIDENTAL SENIORS MOVED BY FATHERLY TALK.

President Baer Tells That Success Can Only Come Through Obedience to Christ and Asks Them to Remember This in Winning Their Way in World.

President John Willis Baer of Occidental College preached the baccalaureate sermon to the senior class yesterday afternoon in the Hall of Letters at the special request of the students. For the most part his discourse partook of the nature of a fatherly talk rather than a formal sermon.

The hall was crowded, and it was necessary to put chairs in the aisles to accommodate the people. The middle section of the main floor was reserved for collegians, and the first two rows for the seniors, who marched in in caps and gowns. The members of the faculty occupied seats on the platform. The invocation was by Dean W. D. Ward, and Dr. W. H. Walker, president of the board of trustees, and Rev. Mr. Wishard also took part in the service. B. G. Bloom of Pasadena sang two solos, and the college octette an anthem.

Dr. Baer took this text from St. John's gospel: "But when day was now breaking, Jesus stood on the beach; yet the disciples knew not that it was Jesus—and He said unto them, cast the net on the right side of the boat, and ye shall find." The president said:

"It had been a night of toil. The atmosphere must have been saturated with keen disappointment, with blighted expectations. The disciples had been unsuccessful, and now faced the dawn of a new day. They returned to their fishing, only to face more disappointment. Failure! The sting in it is distressing. Fishing was their life work, and only for three years had they abandoned it to follow the Galilean. Some tell us that they deserved non-success, that they should not have returned to their nets, but should have continued upon their mission of preaching and healing.

"What I see in this experience, and what I desire you to realize, is that when we are most at a loss, Christ makes himself known. We do well at this time to take our lesson from this experience. Obedience is the door to abundant life. Revelation and recognition come through obedience. How often we fail to hear His voice or to discern His face! Discord, discontent, and disaster come, and our ears are dull and our eyes are dim.

"Obedience to the Master brings man's ample provision. You young people who are about to go out into the world should take this to heart: Jesus Christ is often better than His word, never worse. There is a right and a wrong side to your ship. It is beyond human wisdom to decide whether it be the port or the starboard. What may be the right side one day, may be the wrong side the next. The right side is His side, and it makes all the difference between an empty net and one filled to overflowing. Christ alone knows each day upon which side of the ship lies our provision, and obedience to Him will be adequately, if not abundantly rewarded.

"Obedience brings fellowship and the joy of the abundant life. Contrast the results of a whole night's work without Christ, and the result of a few moments obedience to Christ's command. These fishermen had worked through the long night, drenched and chilled by the waves. They accomplished nothing of themselves, but He provided far beyond their fondest expectations, and in loving friendship inspired them to a larger personal surrender."

"You, my friends, are invited to this fellowship. With you it is daybreak. You are about to leave these halls and take your place in the world's work. The Master would breakfast with you, and though you are to go out to win your way, may that way be with Him. Remember: 'If any one will to know His will, he shall know of the teaching.'

"Simple, personal, direct, has been the last word of your president. It is earnestly given to you with real affection. May your life be the abundant life, and may the day never dawn when your spirit and purpose is in enmity to these words."

Dr. Baer then spoke of the pleasant relations he always had enjoyed with the class and the deep interest he felt in the welfare of each member of it. His closing words were very impressive, and tears fell as he spoke of the farewells about to be said by men and women leaving the college.

After the baccalaureate services, the annual vesper services and communion were held, Rev. Gantz of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, conducting them.

COLD WATERITES RALLY IN TENT.

GOVERNMENT AND THE "WET" STATES DENOUNCED.

Probable Prohibition Candidate for President Presides and Gives Interesting Statistics — Minister Raps Divines and Church Members Who Do not Vote as They Pray.

Several hundred prohibitionists gathered, yesterday afternoon, at their Chautauqua tent at Central avenue and Twenty-seventh street for a grand rally in the cause of "cold water."

Fred S. Wheeler, the probable candidate of the party for President of the United States, presided and made the opening address in which he quoted statistics to prove the evil effects of the liquor traffic.

"Eight States," he continued, "now stand for prohibition, including Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina. Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas are mostly 'dry.' Illinois has just wiped out 1500 saloons and Minnesota, Indiana and New York are working for similar results. Kansas City, Worcester and Atlanta have refused to issue licenses and are better for the change. Twelve thousand counties and 10,000 villages and townships support temperance principles."

The speaker strongly denounced the government for accepting a revenue of $200,000,000 from the liquor traffic and the States, counties and municipalities which receive $100,000,000 more. He declared that both Republicans and Democrats are committed to this system and are as guilty as the saloon men.

Rev. Wiley J. Phillips devoted his attention to local conditions and was followed by Rev. C. V. La Fontaine, who, in a strong address, told of his experience as pastor of a Methodist church situated on the edge of the worst district of Chicago. He paid his respects to preachers and church members who denounced the liquor traffic in pulpits and conferences and churches, but who vote to continue it. He hoped a better day was coming when men would "vote as they prayed."

C. J. Hall made an appeal for funds and then a collection was taken. In the evening he gave a lecture at the tent on "A Plea for Justice."

"STAG" BANQUET.

Employees of Drug Company Hosts at Annandale Country Club for Associates Who Are Leaving.

A "stag" banquet was given at the Annandale Country Club Saturday evening by employes of the Brunswig Drug Company, in honor of three associates who are about to leave. The guests were Dr. F. S. Langdon, director, who for seventeen years has been with the F. W. Braun Company, and its successor, the Brunswig company; Gustave Knecht, vice-president and general manager, and R. H. Heiman, second vice-president, both for many years connected with the same concerns. The tables were decorated profusely with ferns and flowers, and the dinner was followed by toasts and speeches. The song hit of the evening was "The Little Hen With the Wooden Leg."

Dr. Langdon will leave Wednesday for an extended tour of the North, including Alaska, and later will go to Europe for a year. Messrs. Knecht and Heiman will go to San Francisco July 1, to enter business for themselves.

LATINS WILL DO POLITICS.

League Issues Call to Fall in for Campaign.

Will Draw Many Republicans to the Firing Line.

Activity to Spread Through Southern Counties.

President Frank Dominguez of the Latin-American Republican League has issued a call for the assembling of the Dons to equip their forces and prepare to take an active part in the national, State and county campaigns. Auxiliary leagues will be formed in every county in the southern part of the State and if the plans of the leaders do not miscarry the league will bring 15,000 Latin-Americans, all loyal Republicans, to the firing line at the State primaries in August and again at the general election in November.

The organization of the league itself remains the same it was two years ago, when its members did valiant work in the gubernatorial campaign. A meeting will be held in the league rooms at the Nadeau Hotel the latter part of the present week for the purpose of electing officers and forming a new Executive Committee.

HEADQUARTERS AND HALL.

Permanent headquarters for the league have been opened at the Nadeau and a hall has been engaged on Alpine street for indoor meetings. Branch headquarters will be opened in all the outside counties as far north as San Luis Obispo as soon as the appointments on the Executive Committee for these counties are made.

An important part of the work of the league during the next two months will be the opening of the night schools at some of the branch headquarters of the league for the purpose of instructing new arrivals of the Latin race in their duties as American citizens, registering them and teaching them how to secure their first and second naturalization papers.

The three nationalities which will form the major portion of the new organization are the French, Spanish and Italian. During the summer, open-air meetings will be held at the Plaza and Republican doctrines will be expounded in these three languages.

AIMS OF LEAGUE.

President Domingues said yesterday that the league expects to perfect the organization of the Latin-American races into an effective political body for the August primaries.

"Our first duty will be to assure the united support of the Latin-Americans in the southern part of the State for Secretary Taft for President.

"We have already arranged for six speakers, who will take the stump during the national campaign. I expect to speak in every county, possibly in every precinct in Southern California, this summer. Through our organization we expect to be able to bring our people together to listen to the addresses of our leaders.

"This organization of the Latin-Americans was commenced two years ago. Gov. Gillett has attested to the service we rendered him during the gubernatorial campaign. We were able to keep our people solidly in line for our regular Republican nominees; the Bell forces made a lot of noise, but they did not break through at any point.

"This year we shall have a much more effective organization. We have prepared a roster of all the Latin-Americans in Los Angeles county. We find that there are more than 5000 Spanish-American voters here; the number of Latin-American men in the county may reach 15,000.

WANT RECOGNITION.

"For the primaries our object shall be to support only such candidates as are friendly to our people. In the past many of our people voted blindly when they voted at all and we have received no recognition whatever. Although there are 5000 Spanish-American voters in the county, there is not a single Spanish-American holding a county office, and there are very few of them employed at the Courthouse. Because we have lacked organization we have received no representation.

"The Latin-Americans hold the balance of power in Patterson and Wilson's supervisorial districts. This year we shall have something to say about the selection of Supervisors. The same will apply to the Assembly and Senatorial districts.

"We have no fight with any person or faction in the Republican party. The Latin-Americans are nearly all loyal Republicans. We make but this distinction—we shall support no candidate, no matter what his nationality or political affiliations, who is not worthy the support of loyal Americans, and we shall obey the dictation of no political boss, but shall select in our own way the men whom we feel merit our support."

With a steel bar and a block of wood the cell door was raised from its hinges. The work was not done without considerable noise, which aroused several patients, who watched the operations through the gratings of their cells.

As soon as the door was removed, Adamson came out, wrapped in his bedclothes. Picking up their tools, the men walked carefully out the back door and closed it. The consternation the escape caused among the other patients, aroused Hutchinson, and he immediately arose to investigate.

He was unable to secure a description of the men. He immediately notified the police and the county officers. Detectives were sent out to meet the automobile, but their efforts failed.

Adamson is accused of entering a residence on West Sixth street. He was arrested on April 15 and bound over to the Superior Court under $500 bonds. He was unable to secure bonds, and was confined in the County Jail. While there he showed signs of insanity. He was removed to the County Hospital, where he could receive medical attention. It is believed by the officers that the plot was hatched in the County Jail by some of his friends and that he cleverly feigned madness to get into the County Hospital, where he would have a better chance to escape.

The messages stated that Pendleton was on his death bed and that Stanley should come to California at once in order that the dying man might consult him about his will. Stanley says his replies to the messages were intercepted and that when he reached Sumnit, just across the California line, he was served with summons in a $2000 suit brought by the Gregory Fruit Company.

When Stanley reached Dolgeville, he found that his father-in-law was perfectly well and that his wife was ignorant of the telegrams. Stanley then brought a charge of conspiracy against Sutherland and Stanley.

Snyder and Miss Spring eloped on May 15 and came to Los Angeles, where they secured the license and then disappeared. Their presence in Las Vegas was discovered through a letter which Sutherland says he received from Snyder, demanding money and threatening, in case he refused, to send him to the penitentiary. In the same envelope, it is stated, Miss Spring sent a message that she would tell what she knew.

Sutherland gave the letter to Constable Bagley of Colton, who, with the girl's father, went to Las Vegas and the couple was arrested.

Snyder will be arraigned tomorrow.

Bronx Police Gather in Several New York Financiers for Speeding Their Automobiles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Yonkers carried off all the honors today in the capture of automobile speeders, its sleuths gathering in during the day Henry Clews, Ogden L. Mills, son of Ogden Mills and grandson of D. O. Mills, and Theodore Chabot, the Bronx department store man. It was Mr. Clews's second offense, or rather that of his chauffeur. The banker protested vigorously against his arrest.

ACCUSED.

BRUSIE FACES GRAVE CHARGE.

Well-Known Politician and Writer in Custody.

Arrested Here on Order of San Francisco Police.

Says It Is Spite and That He'll Clear Himself.

Charged with the embezzlement of $500 of the funds of the Metropolitan Surety Company, of which he was Pacific Coast manager, Judson D. Brusie, secretary of the State Railroad Commission, politician, former Assemblyman, litterateur and prominent member of several San Francisco clubs, was taken into custody yesterday while entering the Van Nuys Hotel with his wife.

Brusie was arrested on telegraphic advices from San Francisco, a warrant having been issued there by Police Judge Charles F. Weller on the complaint of D. A. MacBeth, an eastern representative of the company of which Brusie was manager.

Brusie declares he is innocent of any criminal act.

It is reported from San Francisco that the charge against Brusie will be followed by others of a more serious nature; that he will be accused of the embezzlement of approximately $14,000.

Detectives boarded Brusie's train at River Station, but did not arrest him until he and his wife reached the Van Nuys, where the man registered under his own name.

When arrested, Brusie expressed no surprise. He turned to his wife and merely remarked that he had expected something of the kind. Mrs. Brusie took the matter coolly.

Brusie was taken to Central Station and booked on a felony charge. Bail was not allowed. Instead of being placed in a cell he was made comfortable in the Receiving Hospital. He had $150 in money.

An attempt will be made by a local attorney to obtain Brusie's release on habeas corpus proceedings today. He does not intend to return to San Francisco, he says, unless he is compelled to do so. He says he came to Los Angeles to do literary work, asserting that he is writing sketches for Kolb and Dill, now in New York.

"This is an outrage," said Brusie. "I resigned from the Metropolitan Surety Company about a week ago. Joseph McClosky was appointed in my place. He put an expert to work on the books, and I suppose he thinks he can get rid of me by railroading me to the penitentiary. I have led an honest life and I have nothing to fear from my enemies. McClosky is my most bitter enemy and he is the cause of all my trouble. He has hounded me for months.

"That company never amounted to anything until I took hold of it. I wrote $65,000 worth of business for it in a year.

"When I announced my intention of resigning, the directors begged me to reconsider my decision. They will stand by me. I intend to fight back now. I'm going to take this matter into the courts and fur will fly. I've kept silence long enough. I don't know what they have against me."

FRIENDS WILL AID.

ARRANGING FOR BAIL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Brusie's friends in this city were apprised of his predicament, steps were taken to raise bail for his release. A number of his acquaintances gathered and discussed the situation. Judge Weller was immediately communicated with and it is said the bail was fixed at $15,000.

Brusie, who resided with his wife in a handsome residence at Belvedere, departed for Los Angeles Saturday, after informing his friends that he was going away on a vacation. The Metropolitan Surety Company, of which he has been Pacific Coast manager, has been doing an enormous business with the graft defendants, and Brusie was a well-known figure among the courts when arrangements were being made for the furnishing of bail on the many indictments returned by the grand jury.

Mac Beth, who swore to the complaint charging Brusie with felony embezzlement, came here from New York on May 17 and since then has been occupying apartments at the Fairmont. It is said he has been making a detailed investigation into the affairs of the Coast branch of the concern.

Brusie's friends about town were dismayed when they learned of his arrest this evening. In the political and social life of the State, he has been a prominent figure for many years. He was a resident of Sacramento for years, practiced law there and was sent to the Legislature several terms by that city. As a politician he was well known in Republican ranks, being a forcible speaker. He was a writer and playwright of no mean ability and for many seasons the theater-goers of San Francisco delighted in some of his skits which he wrote for Kolb and Dill, such as "I. O. U.," "Lonesome Town," and others.

Six native soldiers and a French lieutenant were killed on the frontier, according to advices received at Saigon, Indo-China, by Chinese regulars while they were disarming Chinese revolutionists, who had taken refuge on French territory.

Editorial Pab Points

No man can earn a million dollars, but he can earn enough to make a million with.

Having formed the habit of following men, women are now determined to follow them into politics.

Fame offers many avenues of travel to its votaries. Behold M. Marcel who invented a wave for women's hair.

The busy man of the future will have café and stenographic attachments on his automobile and his balloon.

The fighting ships appear to be able to maintain a mortality list without the necessity of sending them to war.

If a deadlock shall arise in the Chicago convention it will not take Mr. Taft long to open it. He is a Yale man.

The Roosevelt dam in Arizona is nearing completion. The Roosevelt "damn" in Washington is also nearing an end.

The world continues to lunge forward. The pen is mightier than the sword and the typewriter is mightier than the pen.

William J. Bryan proposes to revenge himself on the Democratic party by again becoming its candidate for the Presidency.

Why is it that the Democrats are making no mention of Gov. Chamberlain of Oregon as a candidate for the Presidency?

Honors will be divided at Chicago between George Knight, "the human megaphone," and Tim Woodruff, the human doughnut.

While the allies are setting things up against Taft it must be remembered that Taft will be right at the other end of the wire.

Science is constantly being rebuffed. Americans are living longer as each generation passes and they are eating more pie all the time.

England has gone into raptures over the visit of the Queen to a hospital. Is it wonderful that a woman made of clay should be human?

France is piling up the money and falling off in her birth rate. We have our doubts about a situation of that kind being exactly desirable.

Japan is having a hard time with China. In the game of slick performances the Chinaman can make a monkey out of a Jap without half trying.

Everything is being done to make the Chicago convention the greatest in history. No orator will be allowed to speak longer than twenty minutes.

The only disappointment concerning the Wright brothers' flying machine is contained in the statement that it is constructed on scientific principles.

It is pointed out that Gov. Johnson started in the Presidential race too late. Perhaps he should have started twelve years ago, when Bryan started.

The remarkable silence of the Kaiser has been explained. He recently burned off the ends of his mustache while endeavoring to light a cigarette.

There have been nearly 200,000 copies of "Three Weeks" printed. So you see it is not so bad. Over 80,000,000 Americans have never read the nasty thing.

Henry Watterson is growing childish. He says Gov. Johnson is the best man for the Democrats to nominate and then he comes out in favor of Bryan.

An Ohio man, after celebrating his golden wedding, is now accused of stealing his wife's lingerie and presenting it to an affinity. Youth must have its fling.

As far as we have been able to learn no one expects to stampede the Chicago convention by getting up in the gallery and shouting the name of Leslie M. Shaw.

We shall perhaps see two fat men running for the Presidency. One going coolly and smilingly on his way, the other raging like a tiger and sweating at every pore.

Again the talk is going around that John A. Johnson will be nominated at Denver. Now what's the use of rousing these false hopes among the old-line unterrified?

Mr. Fairbanks's manager says he will not give up the fight until a majority of the votes in the Chicago convention are cast for some other candidate. Well, that'll be all right.

As long as a man can buy a handsome suit of clothes for $15 and a fair jag of a meal's victuals for 15 cents, we see no reason why the average citizen should not appear well and feel well.

It has been asserted that the late Gen. Buller was not a great military genius because he lacked imagination. Then is it true that a general must possess the same qualifications as a mining promoter?

In the navy it is the ship's barber who makes the most money. Thus it is seen that after all the oratory and song has been launched forth on the ravished ears of the public it is the man behind the shave who really counts.

You will see how hopelessly jackassical the Democratic party is when the Denver convention nominates its worst loser against a couple of really phenomenal winners like the Governor of Oregon and the Governor of Minnesota.

THE COURTS—AN ALARM BELL.

This morning's dispatches inform us of the appeal signed by four former Cabinet officers of the United States and other prominent men of affairs in the East, urging the adoption by the Resolutions Committee of the National Republican Convention of a plank affirming confidence in the judiciary of the country. The action of these distinguished gentlemen sounds an alarm which has been felt for months by every keen thinker who has watched the course of affairs. The assaults on the courts in one form and another have of late been frequent, vicious, sinister and ominous. If this bulwark for the maintenance of the American system of government is to be undermined by the raids of destructionists, populists and fanatics, then God only can help the republic!

We have seen and heard in California a public prosecutor with a mob at his back, openly cursing and insulting the judges of a court that refused to stand for his legal blunders, although their rulings were afterward sustained by the highest authority.

We have seen in California the newspaper organ of a scheming millionaire politician reviling and libeling jurors who had found verdicts in accordance with the testimony and the dictates of their own consciences instead of bending under the bludgeon of the political boss.

We heard Sam Gompers, in Washington, issue explicit orders to the labor unions of the country to disobey the mandates of the Supreme Court of the United States and to follow his instructions in disregard of court decisions as to boycotting, picketing and violence.

We have seen public journals, that cater to the mob spirit, hold up the courts to contempt, and accuse them of the vilest motives when their interpretation of the law has differed from that of a police reporter on a 1-cent tripod.

We see in Oregon, under faddist rule, the referendum advocates openly urging an amendment to the State Constitution that shall take from the courts the final arbitrament of lawsuits involving property, and shall submit the decision to a popular vote—to passion and prejudice inflamed by demagogues, instead of to law, equity and justice.

We see the "recall" held as a club over the heads of judges, with the threat that if they venture to read the law and weigh the facts contrary to the wishes of a political faction that happens to be in a temporary majority—no matter if their decisions are scientific and unassailable from a legal standpoint—the judges shall be "recalled," and subservient tools of the political faction shall be installed in their seats.

What man with a home of his own, with a little savings-bank account, with a growing family, with a desire to retain the right to earn his living by the sweat of his brow in his own honest way, would wish to live in a State wherein power over his property rights and his right to work might be vested in a political faction led by designing knaves?

As the gentlemen who have signed this memorial declare, the full independence of the courts must be maintained if there is to be any safety for life and property in this country—if all the bitter lessons, learned from the tyrannies of the Neros and the Czars and from the tyrannies of the Robespierres and Marats, are not to be thrown away. The Republican national platform should certainly contain the declaration suggested.

UNION LABOR VOTE.

Walking delegates, intent on intimidating weak politicians, make large assertions as to the power of unions at the polls. They put the voters in the union ranks at anywhere from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000, according to the "nerve" of the walking delegate making the claim.

A careful analysis indicates that the members of all unions in the United States is between 1,100,000 and 1,200,000. These figures include women, children and aliens. Eliminating these non-voters, the actual voting strength of all the unions is under 500,000.

The vote to be cast next November will not, probably, be less than 14,000,000, maybe 500,000 more. On the lower basis the union vote is one in seven. If they all voted one way, and against W. H. Taft, it would not defeat him, assuming the Bryan vote is not overwhelmingly greater than in past campaigns. Indeed, it would not have turned the result in any recent national election.

But these union voters can never be led to vote all one way. There are radical socialists among them who are sincere in their principles and will not vote for any candidate except their own. There are prohibitionists among them, not many perhaps, but some. There are others who, while belonging to the unions, are either Democrats or Republicans, and will not forsake their party allegiance.

But this is only the beginning of difficulties in the way of swinging all this vote for any candidate. The real obstacle lies in the fact that the most sensible, intelligent members of these unions would rather see any other candidate succeed than one who would permit himself to be controlled by the walking delegates. They know these men who by loud talk and rank demagogy get into power in the unions and foresee the sad work they would do if they could.

It is a liberal estimate that the walking delegates can control 250,000 votes. For our part, we think that is far above the real number. That would be one vote in eight, presuming that all the union voters actually vote, while only 80 per cent. of the other voters go to the polls. If, as is reasonable to think, only the usual ratio of these men vote, their total poll will be only 400,000. And we make a deeper cut in the number which the leaders can mislead at the polls.

THE SHINPLASTER ISSUES.

When all financiers' shins were kicked sore in the flurry last fall the banks gave us a supply of plasters to cover the scars and bruises. Speculation as to how much these amounted to for the entire country has been general.

When the Aldrich bill proposed $500,000,000 as the limit of emergency currency some declared it was too little by half, and in fact the Fowler bill proposed a $1,000,000,000 limit. This claim was based on the assertion that the illegal issues put out by the banks amounted to that total.

To get exact details requires time and effort. These having been expended the result is now made public that the total amount of this emergency currency was only $219,857,500 or less than half the provision of the Vreeland act.

Of this New York issued 40 per cent., Chicago 18. After this came St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco in the order named with about $12,000,000 each. This left about $70,000,000 for the rest of the country. In Los Angeles the total was a trifle over $3,000,000.

It thus appears that the Vreeland act makes ample provision for any trouble likely to come.

The compilation was made by William J. Gilpin, assistant manager of the New York Clearing-house Association.

The issue in Pacific States was not over $10,000,000. Our allotment under the new act is over $24,000,000.

Dr. Koch, who is devoting his life to drive from the earth leprosy and the great white plague, is doing work that counts. How squalid and piteous beside him appears the man who devotes his life to piling up dollars.

The Wright brothers assert that their airship can travel fifty miles and then come back to the same place. It must be a good deal like the family cat.

THE SHADOW CAST BEFORE.

THE RACE FOR NAVAL SUPREMACY.

Unless warship building in Germany is pushed more vigorously in the next ten years than is now contemplated, our new naval policy definitely laid down by Congress indicates that in 1917, when the present programme of construction in Germany will end, the United States will still have a superior sea-fighting force, and maintain its position as the second naval power in the world.

Today the United States leads in number of battleships, and in their speed, armament and gun power, though its construction of the so-called new navy did not begin till 1895, two years later than Germany started work on its modern warships. The United States has twenty-five effective ships of this class of 334,146 aggregate tonnage, while Germany has twenty-three of 276,166 tons. The United States also has fifteen armored cruisers of 186,545 tons, against Germany's ten, of 113,528 tons. The total tonnage of American armored ships is 520,691 against 389,694 for Germany.

In the next ten years the United States will add twenty battleships to its naval strength, while Germany will add only seventeen.

In addition to its present twenty-five effective battleships, the United States has four well on the way to completion, and two authorized this year, with an agreement for two more to be ordered each year for the next nine years.

The names, dates of commission and tonnage of the present twenty-five American effective battleships are:

Name—	Commissioned.	Tonnage.
Indiana	1895	10,288
Massachusetts	1896	10,288
Oregon	1896	10,288
Iowa	1897	11,346
Kearsarge	1900	11,520
Kentucky	1900	11,526
Alabama	1900	11,552
Illinois	1901	11,552
Wisconsin	1901	11,552
Maine	1902	12,500
Missouri	1903	12,500
Ohio	1904	12,500
Rhode Island	1906	14,948
Virginia	1906	14,948
New Jersey	1906	14,948
Georgia	1906	14,948
Nebraska	1906	14,948
Connecticut	1907	16,000
Louisiana	1907	16,000
Minnesota	1907	16,000
Vermont	1907	16,000
Kansas	1907	16,000
Idaho	1908	13,000
Mississippi	1908	13,000
New Hampshire	1908	16,000
Total tonnage		334,146

By this schedule it is easy to see what a risk we ran in the Spanish-American War in 1898 with only four (then) first-class battleships.

The four battleships building are:

Name—	Tonnage.
Delaware	20,000
North Dakota	20,000
Michigan	16,000
South Carolina	16,000
Total tonnage building	72,000

The two battleships authorized this year are to be of the 20,000 tons (Dreadnought) class.

The names, dates of commission and tonnage of the twenty-three German effective battleships are:

Name—	Commissioned.	Tonnage.
Weissenburg	1893	9,874
Kurfuerst Frederic Wilhelm	1893	9,874
Brandenburg	1893	9,874
Worth	1894	9,874
Kaiser Frederich III	1898	10,974
Kaiser Wilhelm II	1900	10,974
Kaiser Karl der Grosse	1901	10,974
Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse	1901	10,974
Kaiser Barbarossa	1901	10,974
Wittelbach	1902	11,643
Zahringen	1902	11,643
Wettin	1902	11,643
Mecklenburg	1903	11,643
Schwaben	1903	11,643
Braunschweig	1904	12,997
Hessen	1905	12,977
Preussen	1905	12,997
Elsass	1905	12,977
Loihringen	1906	12,997
Deutschland	1906	13,200
Hanover	1907	13,200
Pommern	1907	13,200
Nassau	1908	19,000
Total		276,166

For the moment Germany's largest completed battleship—the Nassau—is 3000 tons larger than either of our six largest—16,000 tons each.

The German battleships building are:

Name—	Tonnage.
Ersatz Wurtemberg	19,000
Ersatz Baden	19,000
Ersatz Sachsen	19,000
Schelsein	13,200
Schleswig-Holstein	13,200
Total tonnage building	83,400

"A significant feature in the comparison," says the Nautical Gazette, "is to be found in the fact that foreign experts regard as obsolete only three of the American battleships, the Indiana, Massachusetts and Oregon, while four in the German navy are so condemned. Those four, like the three American, are the first units of the new navy."

The two 20,000-ton American Dreadnoughts authorized this year can be begun at once, giving us four great ships of this class before the new German vessels can be launched. This is for the first time possible because the plans are ready, being practically the same plans that are serving for the Delaware and North Dakota.

The future of the United States is very largely in the hands of the navy of the United States, as necessarily, in our international relations, we are of more importance as a naval power than as a military power.

NO UNEMPLOYED NECESSARY.

They are busy making hay while the sun shines in the tiers of States below the old slave line. They will be harvesting wheat there soon. In three weeks the tiers of States above the line will all be cutting hay.

For the next hundred days there will be work for every man willing and able in the United States. The best charity that could be devised is the congested centers of the East would be to send the idle out West. Kansas wants 25,000 hands for hay and harvest time.

It would benefit those accustomed to city life to get out in the prairies and among the oak openings of the West. Some of them would never return and this would be good for the men, for the East and for the West.

California farmers are busy now with fruit harvest and the idle in the cities can find work and good pay in the orchards.

THE SPELL OF THE MESA.

The spell of the mesa is over the land,
Uplifting and keen as a word of command;
It stirs in the air with a buoyant surprise,
It presses the earth with a secret surmise;
The greatness of highlands, the sweep of the sun,
The purple horizons by mystery won,
The sharp-cloven shadows of boulder and tree—
Seem the cry of the spirit that knows it is free.

But hark!—in the valley, where little streams go,
And birds for their babes are a-wing to and fro,
Where brave yellow flowers make the hours debonair,
And the live-oaks are tangled in wild-roses' lair—
Such a bounty of growing and loving and song,
Inviting, delighting the rover along—
Till he cries, "I am free on the mesa above—
Yet I yearn for the bourne of the Valley of Love."

RUBY ARCHER.

HOROSCOPE.

Monday, June 8, 1908.

As summer mists conceal a summer sea,
So over all things lies uncertainty.

This one hundred and sixtieth day is one of the most vague of all the days of the year. All the planets are in neutral positions, strictly expressionless, betokening neither good chance or evil, and omening naught whether for or against any endeavor.

Fortune is blind this day. Only in that which the hand unaided can grasp, is there surety.

Employés will need to be extraordinarily cautious and painstaking in this period. There is constant danger of errors, particularly in transmitting instructions or orders.

A good day for all domestic affairs, and for most of the pursuits of women. Baking, brewing, preserving and trying new cooking recipes should all prosper. Dressmaking, and dealing with jewelers, tailors, hair dressers and milliners will be fortunately attended.

The woman with this birth-date will probably have a quiet, rather uneventful, but thoroughly happy and peaceful year. Fridays will be her most propitious days.

The man with this birth-date will have a prosperous year in employment. If in business for himself, he will have a fairly even year.

The girl born today will be likely to develop a great love for traveling, particularly by way of the water.

The boy born this day will have a placid career, unmarked by any great struggles.

Too Funny to Tell.

An Ogdensburg (N. Y.) man died in a fit of laughter the other day. Some one must have told him that Mr. Bryan expects to carry New York this year.—[Washington Post.

Harriman Sure of It.

Harriman predicts a banner crop year. Sometimes we think it was a mistake to put him up for the Ananias Club.—[Milwaukee Sentinel.

San Francisco has voted nearly $20,000,000 bonds for local improvements, and has a reasonable hope that some of the money will be applied to the purpose in view.—[Philadelphia Ledger.

In other words, Wall street is pained because Cotton King Livermore retires with $600,000 of their money and gives them no chance to win it back.—[Detroit Free Press.

Nets for Waists and Yokes

$1.00 and $1.50 Values for 75c

Everybody wants net waists—has wanted them all this season. And that is the only reason why these nets come to you for less than original prices—because brisk selling has left us with short lengths and single patterns. In every piece, however, there is enough for a waist.

Filet and round mesh nets, 42 to 45 inches wide, in cream, ecru, champagne and white; plain or in pretty designs—blocks, figures, etc. All season they've sold at $1 and $1.50 a yard; now specially priced for a quick clearance at 75c

New Waists $2.50

Lingerie and Tailored Styles

In a Broadway window today appear some examples of the exceptionally good shirt waists that we've assembled at $2.50—a price the average woman pays for her every-day waists.

You may have either strictly tailored or lingerie styles at this price; the tailored waists with long sleeves and attached stiff cuffs, and linen collars, patch pocket; the lingerie cleverly designed from fine quality materials, with Valenciennes lace trimmings, front and back; short sleeves, with pretty cuffs, lace edged; at $2.50

Gloves Underpriced

White gloves — to go with graduating dresses or light party frocks. And wonderfully underpriced, just when you'd least expect it.

White, 16-button glace gloves, for which we usually obtain $3.50. Specially priced at $3.00

White, 12-button suede gloves of regular $3.25 grade at $2.50

White, 8-button glace gloves of regular $2.50 grade at $1.75

All long white silk gloves of $1.75 to $2.50 qualities specially priced at fifty cents a pair less.

Tapestry Rugs Reduced

Of these two qualities of tapestry Brussels rugs we secured a quantity in Oriental and flowered patterns at a lower than usual price, hence the lessened figures to you:

9x12 rugs of $12.50 grade at $10.00

9x12 rugs of $16.00 grade at $12.50

Fast colors, very easily kept clean, and durable, too.

Tapestry Brussels carpets, sewed, lined and laid, for 60c

Linen Remnants One-Fourth Off

Savings run from a quarter to a third in these linens, because they are the remnants of the season's favorites, and we'd rather lose sight of profits than to carry these oddments:

Lengths of a yard and half to three yards in table linens, both bleached and unbleached, in various pretty patterns; odd dozens and half-dozens of napkins, too, in conventional patterns that go well with any cloth; some waist and skirt lengths in pure linens for dresses; all sharply re-priced for quick clearance.

Carriage and Steamer Rugs

Why pay exclusive stores' prices for automobile robes and steamer rugs? You won't if you once get your eyes on the fine, large assortments we carry of these articles and learn their very reasonable prices:

Domestic and imported styles of regulation size steamer rugs; soft, warm plaids, plain on one side, and, course, all wool; $5 to $25; carriage robes, too, in English whipcord, linen, covert, Indian blanket patterns, broadcloth, etc., at 85c to $6.00

Women's New Suits $15.00

Qualities Ordinarily $25.00

Among them are a number of the new "Kehoe" models—with mannish long roll lapels and triple pockets, and high-class tailored skirts with bias fold—in shadow stripes of navy blue, brown and Copenhagen.

Other stylish suits included are neat grays in narrow mixed stripes; checks in black and white and brown and white; light cream grounds with black hairlines; plain colors; gored and pleated skirts and neat tailored coats, silk or satin lined, or more dressy models with short sleeves. Any one of them a veritable bargain at $15.

Draperies for Less

We're making it well worth anybody's while to visit this big Drapery Section by such items as follow. The price-cutting is due, in part, to stock adjusting, in part to our determination to have brisk business and in part to advantageous buying of high-grade goods.

Suits to Measure for $29.50, Complete

Complete, means that we furnish findings, material and make up the suit at this price. Choose from eight different sorts of cloth in stripes, shadow checks and other stylish weaves good for service and appearance, and we will make to your measure, like the sample suit in the Wool Goods Section, a tailored suit, satin lined and with good interlinings, complete, for $29.50

Style, material and everything considered, this is a very low price for so good a suit; and, indeed, we could not make the price so low, had we paid full value for materials concerned.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Cloudy weather prevails along the coast of California north of San Francisco. At San Francisco light sprinkling rains have occurred. It is much cooler in the Sacramento Valley.

Forecast for San Francisco and vicinity: Cloudy Monday; possibly light showers; fresh southwest winds.

Santa Clara Valley: Cloudy Monday; light southwest winds.

Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys: Cloudy Monday; possibly showers in the foothills; light south winds.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," and "Baths and Massage."

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1¼ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF Stockholders of Kings River Power Company. Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of Kings River Power Company will be held at the office of the company, No. 120 East Fourth street, in the city of Los Angeles, county of Los Angeles, State of California, on Monday, the 29th day of June, 1903, at 2 o'clock p.m., of said day, for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting. By order of the president. Dated at Los Angeles, Cal., June 8, 1903. W. L. PERRY, Secretary. 8

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday insertion will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m.

The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, numbering regularly over 400 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

PERSONAL—MME. ANNUVE, THE WONDERFUL CLAIRVOYANT. Imbued with Magnetism and Psychic Forces. SKEPTICS ARE DISARMED OF PREJUDICE IN THE PRESENCE OF MME. ANNUVE, WHO READS UNERRINGLY THE SECRETS OF THE PAST AND CASTS HER PSYCHIC LIGHT UPON THE FUTURE'S HIDDEN PATH.

Mme. Annuve has, through her marvelous psycho-vibratory and telepathic powers, brought about more happy marriages, reunited the separated and helped more people to health, wealth and happiness than any clairvoyant in America.

Her Great Success Enables Her to Give SPECIAL READINGS

THIS WEEK—25c 25c 25c—THIS WEEK. An opportunity for all to meet this great psychic.

THE TIDE OF SKEPTICISM IS SLOWLY TURNING BY THE WONDERFUL POWER DISPLAYED BY THIS PHENOMENAL WOMAN.

Mme. Annuve's purposes and intentions are best expressed in her own words: "I don't want money I don't earn; I don't need it. But I want to help you to success and happiness. I will tell you frankly your condition, if nothing can be done for you I will not take one cent of your money."

My practice and professional reputation are built upon honor, reasonable charges, fair dealings, faithful service and speedy success for my clients have won for me the largest practice in California. My superior knowledge and power give me advantages which warrant me in guaranteeing safe, surer and more rapid results than can be obtained elsewhere.

I will give you the most complete, exact, reliable and intelligent reading you have ever had. Tell you whom and when you will marry; if you will be divorced, and why. The sickness you have or will have. How to prosper and win success. Locate a business to begin and where; the psychological moment for safe speculation or investment. Locate buried treasures, missing papers, lost or absent friends, mines, oil veins. Overcome rivals, enemies, evil influences, weaknesses of all kinds. I positively do what others claim to do.

This gifted trance medium penetrates the mysteries of the past, delves into the past, inquires into the future.

THE VERY SECRETS OF THE DEAD REVEALED.

AND EVERY WARNING, ADVICE AND INFORMATION LAID BARE BEFORE YOU, YOUR PRESENT LIFE AND ENTIRE FUTURE TOLD.

Mme. Annuve is permanently located in Los Angeles and owner of her own home.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

Mrs. Adele M. Ball,
whose marriage to B. L. Vickrey will be solemnized on the 23rd inst.

A LARGE number of readers will be much interested in the announcement that the marriage of Mrs. Adele M. Ball of Burlington avenue and Sixth street, and B. L. Vickrey will take place on the 23d inst. at the home of the former. Mrs. Ball is a widow of unusual charm, a great social favorite, and it has been expected for some time that she would surely wed again. The winner is a successful real estate operator and banker, known in business circles as one of the solid men of the city. The wedding will be witnessed only by the members of the families and will be followed by a gathering of friends.

—o—

Musicale.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll entertained 200 guests at her home last Friday afternoon with a musicale. The artists contributing were Miss Beresford Joy, who sang English, French and German songs; Mmes. Elso von Grafé-Meusseo, 'cellist, and Miss Happy Smith, accompanist. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Toll entertained a number of friends at five hundred.

—o—

Married at Van Nuys Hotel.

The marriage of William Drennan of San Francisco and Miss Lucile Johns of Nashville was solemnized Saturday evening at the Hotel Van Nuys in the presence of a few close friends and relatives. Miss Johns is a social favorite in Nashville, and Mr. Drennan was prominent in business and social circles in New Orleans, where he resided until his recent removal to San Francisco. The couple left immediately for San Francisco, where they will reside.

—o—

Honeymoon in New Mexico.

Daniel Boggis and Miss Leonora S. Stewart of Los Angeles were married June 4. Only near relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Boggis left for New Mexico, and after a short honeymoon will return and make their home in Los Angeles.

—o—

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Weinstein were the recipients of a pretty greeting at their home, No. 144 West Fourteenth street, last Tuesday evening in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. They were summoned home from the theater to meet "a relative from a distance," and were surprised to find their house brightly illuminated and in possession of about two-score of their friends, bent on doing honor to the occasion by their presence, beautiful gifts and nice feast they had prepared. The diversion of the evening consisted in games, dancing and refreshments, as well as a programme of vocal and instrumental music. A vocal duet by the little Misses Heta and Pearlie Weinstein was much appreciated, as were the other numbers.

—o—

For Bride-to-Be.

A shower was given on Thursday in honor of Miss Gretchen Quast at the home of her mother, No. 1224 Maple avenue, by Miss Irma Schramm and Miss Martha Schlitzkers. Miss Quast is engaged to Otto Rattey, and will be married soon.

—o—

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. Ryan and Miss Maude Ryan of Westlake avenue left on Thursday for Hotel Rowarden near the Santa Cruz Mountains, to be absent for several months.

Miss May Katherine Smith of No. 2219 Hobart boulevard, is the guest of Mme. Modjeska at Tustin, and will remain for some time prior to her departure for New York, where she intends taking up her work on the lines of legitimate, high-class drama.

CHAPTER XLIV.

TELLS OF A DETERMINATION.

Entering his chambers in Jermyn street half an hour later, Rolfe was met by the faithful Green, to whom he gave orders to "ring up" Mr. Barclay at Dover street.

Then he went along to his room to wash and dress.

A few moments later Green came in, saying:

His master made no reply for some momenta. Then at last he said:

"Pack my suit case and 'phone to Euston to reserve me a seat to Perth on the ten-five tomorrow morning."

"Yes, sir."

"And to everybody except my sister, if she calls, you don't know where I've gone—you understand?"

"Perfectly, sir."

And the men set about packing up his master's traps.

"You may as well put in a dinner coat. Max may have friends," Rolfe said.

"Very well, sir."

His master dressed quickly and went alone to the club for a late dinner. Most of his friends were away shooting, therefore he idled alone for an hour over the paper and then went to his chambers.

Next morning he scribbled a hasty note to Mr. Statham, making an excuse for his sudden absence, and directly after ten was seated in the Scotch express traveling out of London.

At eight that evening he stepped out upon the big, dark station at Perth, sent a telegram to the Crown Inn at Kilmaronock village for a "machine" as a fly is called, and then took the slow branch line that runs by Crieff and skirts Loch Earn to the head of Glen Ogle, where lay the old castle and fine shooting of which Max Barclay was possessor.

A drive of three miles on the road beside Loch Voil brought him to the lodge gates, and then another mile up through the park he came to the great portico of the castle.

It was nearly midnight. Lights were still in the billiard room of the fine old castellated mansion, which Max's father had modernized and rendered so comfortable, and when Charlie rang, Burton, the butler, could not suppress an exclamation of surprise.

In a few moments, however, Charlie burst into the room where Max and five other men were playing "snooker" before retiring.

The host's surprise was great, but the visitor received a hearty welcome, and an hour later, when the guests had gone to their rooms, the two friends stood alone together in the long, old-fashioned drawing room, which, without a woman's artistic hand to keep things in order, was rapidly going to decay.

A big wood fire blazed cheerfully in the wide old-fashioned grate, for October evenings in the Highlands are damp and chill, and as the two men stood before it they looked at one another, both hesitating to speak.

Across Charlie's mind flashed those suspicions which had oppressed him in Belgrade. Was the man before him his enemy or his friend?

"Well," he blurted forth, "I've come straight up to see you, Max. I only arrived home last night. I want to see you concerning Marion."

His companion's lips hardened.

"Marion," he exclaimed, "I have done all I can. I've left no effort untried. I have sought the aid of the best confidential inquiry agency in London, and all to no avail. She's disappeared—as completely as Maud has done."

"Yes, I know," replied her brother, thrusting his hands deep into the trousers pocket of his blue serge traveling suit. "I've seen Statham."

"And so have I. He wrote to Cunnington's, but the latter has not replied. I saw Cunnington myself."

"And what did he say?"

"The fellow refused to say anything," he replied in a hard tone.

Silence again fell between the pair.

The long, old-fashioned room, with its blue china, its chints coverings, its grand piano, and its bowls of autumn roses, though full of quaint charm, was weird and unsuited to the home of a bachelor. Indeed, Kilmaronock was a white elephant to Max. He received a fair rental from the farms on the estate, but he never went near the place except for sport six weeks or so each autumn. The old place possessed some bitter memories for him, for his mother had died there quite suddenly of heart disease on the night of a large dinner party. He was only 18 then, but he remembered it too well. It was that tragic memory which had caused him to abandon the place except when he invited a few of his friends to shoot over the estate.

"Let's go into my own room to talk," he suggested. "It's more cosy there." As a man hates all drawing-rooms, so did Max Barclay detest his mother's room, full of recollections of his dear dead mother.

And so they passed along the corridor to Max's own little den in the east wing of the house, a pleasant little room overlooking the deep shady glen from whence rose the constant music of the ever-rippling burn.

As Charlie sank into the big armchair near the fire, Max pushed the cigar box toward him. Then he seated himself, saying:

"Now, old fellow, what are we to do? Marion must be found."

"She must. But you've failed, you say?"

"Utterly," he sighed. "She was discharged from Cunnington's—disgraced."

"Why?"

Max shrugged his shoulders. Both men knew well that the reason of the girl's disappearance was the shame of her dismissal. Both men knew also that by lifting his finger Sam Statham could have reinstated her—or could at least have had inquiry made as to the truth of what had really occurred.

But he refused. Therefore both were indignant and angry. During the next half hour they discussed the matter fully and seriously, and were agreed upon one main point, that Statham had acted against them both in refusing his aid to clear the unfortunate girl.

"Whatever fault she has committed," declared Max, "the truth should be told. I went to him acknowledging my love for her and beseeching his aid. And yet he has refused."

"Then let us combine Max, in trying to discover the truth," her brother suggested. "Marion shall not be cast aside into oblivion by these drapery capitalists who gain fat profits upon the labor and lives of women."

"You may imperil your position with Statham if you act without discretion," remarked Max warningly.

"I shall do nothing without full consideration, depend upon it. Statham refused his assistance, therefore we must act for ourselves."

"How? Where shall we begin?" asked Max.

His friend raised his palms in a gesture of bewilderment.

"Look here, Charlie," said the other in a confidential tone. "Has is not occurred to you that there may be a method in old Statham's eccentricity regarding that house of his. Now tell me, what do you know of its interior? Let's be frank with each other. You have lost both your sister and the woman you adored, while I have lost Marion, my well-beloved. Let us act together. During these past weeks I've been thinking deeply regarding the mystery of that house in Park Lane."

"So have I, many times. I only know the ground floor and basement. I have never ascended the stairs, through that white-enameled iron door concealed by the one of green baize."

"Where does old Levi sleep?"

"In a room at the back of the kitchen—when he sleeps at all. He's like a watch-dog, on the alert always for the slightest sound."

Max paused for a moment before making any further remark. Then he said in a quiet voice:

"There are some very queer stories afloat concerning that place, Charlie."

"I know. I've heard them—about mysterious people who enter there at night—and don't come forth again. But I don't believe them. Old Sam has earned a reputation for being eccentric, and his enemies have tacked on all sorts of sensational fictions."

"But I've heard lately from half a dozen sources most extraordinary stories. Up at the Moretoun's at Inversnaid the night before last, they were talking of it at dinner. They were unaware that I knew Statham."

"Just as the gossips are unaware that the persons who come and go so mysteriously at the Park Lane mansion are secret agents of the great financier," Rolfe said. "Of course, it would not do to say so openly, but that's who they are. The allegation that they don't come forth again is, I feel confident, mere embroidery to the tale."

"But," exclaimed Max with some hesitation, "has it not ever occurred to you somewhat curious that, so deeply involved in Servian finance, Statham has never sought to solve the mystery of the doctor's disappearance? Remember, they knew each other. The doctor, when he was in power at Belgrade, was probably the old man's cat's-paw. Is it not therefore surprising that he has never expressed a desire to seek out the truth?"

Rolfe held his breath as a new and terrible suspicion arose within him. He had never regarded the affair in that light. Was it possible that his master knew well all the circumstances which had led the doctor to disappear in that manner so extraordinary? Had he really had a hand in it?

Was he the "friend" of whom Sir Charles had spoken in Belgrade?

But no! He would not believe such a thing. Sam Statham was always honest in his dealings—or, at least, as honest as any millionaire can ever be. The man who habitually deals in colossal sums must now and then, of necessity ruin his opponents and wreck the homes of honest men. And strange it is that the world is ever ungrateful. If a very wealthy man gave every penny of his profits to the poor he would only be dubbed a fool or an idiot for his philanthropy.

He recollected that afternoon when, at work in old Sam's room, he had mentioned the doctor's sudden departure, and how deftly the old man had turned the conversation into a different channel.

Until two days ago he would hear no word nor believe any ill against the man who had befriended him. But the man's refusal to assist him to discover the truth concerning the charge against Marion or to order her to be reinstated had turned his heart.

He was now Sam Statham's enemy, as before he had been his friend.

The two men seated together discussed the matter carefully and seriously for the greater part of the night, and when they parted to go to their rooms they took each other's hands in solemn compact.

"We will investigate that house, Rolfe," Max declared; "and we'll lay bare the mystery it conceals!"

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

At the Churches Yesterday.

Spiritual Faintness.

AT AN impressive service, last evening, Rev. William A. Hunter, D.D., was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. T. Cummings Beattie, moderator of the Presbytery, presided and several prominent Presbyterian ministers of this city were on the platform. A special musical programme was rendered by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Volney Beardsley.

Dr. Hunter took charge of the work of the First Presbyterian Church, and preached his first sermon there three weeks ago, but his installation was deferred until the majority of the members of the congregation could be present.

The charge to the people was given by Dr. W. S. Young and Rev. R. A. Vanderlaas delivered the charge to the pastor. The sermon was by Rev. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, whose text was: "Lest ye be weary and faint in your minds." (Hebrews xii:3.)

"There are two kinds of faintness," he said. "The faintness of the body and the faintness of the mind. The first is recognizable by certain symptoms so that friends, or even chance acquaintances, will rush to the side of the sufferer and give aid. There are no outward symptoms of the faintness of the mind, but the suffering is even more poignant.

"There is a great deal of pleasure loving among the Christians of the present day that is likely to cause the more serious minded to lose heart. But we ought to get away from the spirit of the times. We must not allow faintness of mind to overcome us.

"Men tell us that no one can do business today and prosper if he conducts that business along the lines laid down by Jesus Christ. Often, when a man tries to do as conscience teaches, he is called quixotic. He is told that he must do as those about him do. That is why it is that often you can not tell the Christian men from the non-Christian, as far as business deals are concerned.

"There is another cause for spiritual faintness namely, the atmosphere of our own souls. It has been characteristic of the Christian church from the earliest days, and it still is characteristic, that its members have been inclined to look upon the dark side of things.

"You probably—some of you at least—have always thought of the apostles as awaiting the resurrection of the Savior. As a matter of fact they were surprised when He did arise from the dead. Though He had told them repeatedly that He would rise again, they looked upon the dark side and did not expect His words to come true.

"The faint-hearted folk are with us today as always before. You hear the despondent ones say: 'The church is growing weak, the membership is falling off, people are growing negligent. They lose heart, instead of looking up to Jesus and realizing that the church, in which he invested so much, will not fail.

"What is the cure for this faintness? Look to Jesus. See how He stood by His cherished ideals. Men persecuted Him, punished Him, scourged Him, tried to kill Him; men did kill Him. But he never lost sight of his duty. 'My father's business,' was His eternal cry. He kept that thought in mind and those words upon His lips until that duty had been accomplished.

"God is in His heaven and some day all will come right with the world. Be not faint hearted; there is no reason for despair. The success of religious work cannot be measured by full churches and overflowing coffers. Those things are not the essentials of Christianity.

"I know this man whom you call your pastor. He is an earnest, devoted worker who wins hearts to Christ. Are you going to stand by him in his work? As his fellow pastor, I wish Dr. Hunter no better fortune than to have his people walk with him, nearer to Jesus Christ."

Forty Hours at St. Agnes.

The Forty Hours' Devotion was opened yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at St. Agnes's Catholic Church, Vermont avenue and Adams street, by a solemn high mass. Rev. Clement Malony was celebrant, Rev. Michael P. Kirby, deacon, and Rev. Jules Trudeau, subdeacon. The sermon was by Rev. D. W. J. Murphy of Hollywood, who spoke on the Forty Hours' Devotion, its significance and purpose. At 2 o'clock p.m., a meditation was given by Rev. Michael P. Scanlan, and at 4 o'clock, by Rev. J. Burke. At 7:45 o'clock p.m., solemn vespers and benediction were celebrated by Rev. Francis J. Conaty, with Rev. Gregory Ashe, deacon, and Rev. Jules Trudeau, subdeacon. Rev. Philip Williams, O.S.B., preached on "The Holy Eucharist."

Today and tomorrow there will be low masses at 6 and 7 o'clock a.m., and solemn high mass at 9:30 o'clock a.m., with meditations at 2 and 4 o'clock p.m. Rev. J. J. Clifford will celebrate the high mass today, with Rev. James Reardan as deacon, and Rev. Gregory Ashe, subdeacon. Rev. Edward Lunney, O.F.M., will preach on "The Holy Sacrifice." The evening sermon will be by Rev. Phillip Williams, O.S.B., on "The Sacred Priesthood." At tomorrow's high mass, Very Rev. Joseph S. Glass, C.M., D.D., will preach on "Holy Communion," and in the evening Bishop Conaty will deliver the last sermon on "The Closing of the Forty Hours."

At St. Vibiana's Cathedral.

Bishop Conaty celebrated pontificial high mass at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Vibiana's Cathedral. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Harnett, V.G., was archpriest; Rev. Paul Dillon, deacon; Rev. J. Lilley, C.M., subdeacon; Rev. M. V. Richardson, C.M., and Rev. J. Daly, deacons of honor. There was no sermon. After the mass the bishop gave the papal benediction. At the 8 o'clock mass a large class of children received first communion. At 3 o'clock p.m. the bishop preached and administered confirmation.

"The Everlasting Arms."

At Christ Church yesterday, Rev. Baker P. Lee chose this as his theme and spoke on the need that must come into every life of depending upon "the everlasting arms" for protection and support. They are the refuge of the oppressed, the suffering and the assailed. Mr. Lee said it had been his unvarying rule to refrain from allusion to his personal affairs in his pulpit, but he always tried to say a word for Jesus.

—o—

Parable's Lessons.

Rev. William E. Fry at the South Park Presbyterian Church yesterday, preached on "The Parable of the Great Supper," taking this text from St. Luke's gospel: "For I say unto you that none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper." In the course of the sermon, he said:

"The children of misfortune, the children of ignorance and the children of poverty, the under classes, are met together. The pitiable cripple, who but yesterday sat at the street corner begging, the hopelessly blind, whose sad face haunts the passer-by, the lame who painfuly plods along the dusty road, and the wretched pauper, whose illiteracy precludes him from the study of the Mosaic law, these undesirables are guests in a mansion, forgetful of their woes. Why are these bidden to partake of the great supper?

"The first invited guests, the very offspring of the prophets, rejected the gracious invitation of the host. The dreadful guilt of that cold-blooded rejection is disclosed in the tremendous truth that the host is the Almighty Himself, the God of Israel. The moral turpitude of those rejectors is all the more glaring for the reason that they comprised the leaders of the Jewish Church, representing the flower of its membership. Because the so-called desirable members of the church would not come, the poor, the cripple, the blind, the ignorant, the undesirables, were bidden to the feast.

"First, the message to the descendants of the prophets, the honored members of the Jewish church; then to the publicans and sinners; first, the gospel of Jesus to the Jew, then to the Gentile; first, the invitation to the children of a God-fearing ancestry, and then to those whose forefathers dwelt not in God's house.

"The words of the text sound a needed warning. The principles involved are just as surely in operation now as when the Galilean teacher reclined at the table, in the Pharisee's home, and uttered His telling and kindly rebuke.

"Jesus wants the poor, the maimed, the blind, the ignorant, the unfortunate, in His church. His great, loving heart aches for those who have not succeeded, whose hands are bruised, whose feet are bleeding, and whose spirits are cast down. He desires, with unquenchable longing, the men who work, and whose toil is not recognised.

"'This is the gospel of labor—ring it, ye bells of the kirk—the Lord of love came down from heaven, to live with the men who work.'

"The powerful, pitiful Christ, ever solicitous for the welfare of all, invites the children of His church, as He did the children of the ancient temple in that once Holy City, to gather in their brothers who have been stricken by disaster, or who toil and are heavy laden. If those within the walls of God's house do not accept the invitation, the fatal hour will strike, when they will find themselves without, and the door shut—but the 'great supper' will not lack guests.

"Jesus is for every one. He has an invitation for all, a heart-felt welcome for all. His sacred heart is open to the little one in its mother's arms, as well as to the gray-headed man. O, how the Christ longed to win those self-righteous Pharisees. He walked with them by the wayside; He winsomely talked with them, in marvelous patience; he showed them His power by miracles of mercy, wondrous healings and restorations from death to life; He rejoiced with them at their feasts, and added to the cheer; He, at the risk of His life, uttered faithful warnings, and, at last, when He fully realized the hopelessness of His endeavors, He wept over their hardness of heart.

"Ah, when the Pharisees of the first century and the Pharisees of the twentieth century reject Him and His gospel of service, and prevent others from accepting His gracious invitation, then He speaks these solemn words: 'For I say unto you, that none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper.'"

ITALY'S SONS OBSERVE DAY.

ANNIVERSARY OF CONSTITUTION OF NATIVE LAND.

Prominent Members of Local Colony Enjoy Banquet, With Addresses by Countrymen, Mayor Harper, Fire Commissioner Schwamm, and Two Councilmen.

In commemoration of the sixteenth anniversary of the adoption of the Italian constitution, more than 200 prominent members of the local Italian colony banqueted at the Italian-American Club, on North Main street, yesterday afternoon and evening. Mayor Harper, Fire Commissioner Anthony Schwamm and Councilmen Bernard Healy and E. A. Clampitt made brief addresses on behalf of Los Angeles.

The clubrooms were decorated with American and Italian flags and the walls were adorned with bunting. A fine dinner was served in a style that reminded the guests of their own sunny land, and stirring music was furnished by an orchestra.

Mayor Harper was greeted with hearty applause when he was called upon to speak by Toastmaster J. Gioia. He referred to the large number of Italian families who are living in Los Angeles, and said that this section is peculiarly adapted for settlement by Italians, who find the climate so like that of their own land. The Mayor spoke of the high standing of many Italian business men who had become patriotic American citizens since coming to this country. Councilmen Clampitt and Healy gave short addresses that were well received, and Fire Commissioner Schwamm also spoke.

Dr. G. B. Sassella spoke in Italian and was followed by J. Krause, who spoke in English. A ball was given last evening with E. Pozzo and L. Terrile in charge.

The president of honor was L. Dell' Orto. Others who assisted in making the occasion a success were: E. Paggi, president; P. Bessalo, first vice-president; L. Terrile, second vice-president; M. Orsatti, financial secretary; E. Zucca, corresponding secretary; G. Lopinich, treasurer, and G. Demateis and P. E. Pozzo, directors. The Executive Committee was composed of P. E. Pozzo, A. Favs, F. Acconti, M. Orsatti and E. Zucca. The Reception Committee was: G. Demateis, G. Perelli-Minetti, Ghiglia, G. Cal, Gius Gioia, Avon, Garsu, Boulange, A. Ferraris, E. Giacomino and G. Terrile.

Handsome programmes were printed in gold and blue, and members of the various committees wore blue and gold badges. Besides the speaking some excellent musical numbers were rendered by the orchestra; V. Lucca sang a song, and Dell' Orto played a piano solo.

DR. WAGAR DEAD.

End Comes to Physician Who Was Well-Known in Local Social and Fraternal Circles.

Dr. Charles P. Wagar of No. 1 St. James Park, who was widely known in Los Angeles, and was especially prominent in Masonic and Shrine circles, died at midnight Saturday at the Pacific Hospital, after a rather brief illness. His age was 55. He was a member of Al Malakah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of Southern California Lodge, No. 278, F. and A.M.; Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar, and of the California Club. He was director and secretary of Al Malaikah Auditorium Association, and otherwise was active in Shrine affairs.

Dr. Wagar came here from Toledo, O., in 1905, and at once took a deep interest in local affairs. For some time he had been editor of the California Medical Journal. The surviving members of his family are the widow and two daughters.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel of Orr & Edwards, Tenth and Flower streets, and interment will be at Rosedale, where the services will be conducted by Southern California Lodge, No. 278, F. and A.M., and by Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar.

CHAMPS DROP FINAL GAME.

"Dolly" Gray Is as Wild as a Bucking Broncho.

Beavers Rap Him all Around the Ball Lot.

End Comes With Four Tallies in Sixth Inning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the assistance of Dolly Gray, who pitched for the visitors, Portland won from the champions today, 8 to 2. Gray was wholly out of condition, but as he fooled the locals the last time up, the visitors hoped to repeat the performance today. Although the hitting started with the first inning, the Angels apparently had no better talent to take his place. There were several costly errors on both sides. Today's game divides the series evenly between the two teams.

Right in the opening session, Ryan being in the pickle, Raftery slammed one of Gray's offerings to right center for three bags, and then Danzig made good by lining one over Wheeler's head, scoring Raftery. Gray issued passes to Bassey and Johnson. McCredie fouled out to Hogan. Then Cooney came up. Three were on the perches, and Gray hit the batter and Danzig trotted across the register. The bases were still full when Madden went out.

This was the opener, and it looked good to the home guards. But the big Sunday crowd saw Los Angeles tie the struggle up, and a number of good smashing plays in the bargain. Cooney's work at short was gilt-edged. He took care of eight chances that were bent on trouble. Oaks robbed Bassey of a three-bagger, if not a home run by a long spectacular run, and the work of Ote Johnson at second, who held down Casey's place because the latter was laid up, was worth the price. He was there with a couple of two-base hits that tickled the hearts of the putups.

While Garrett, the silent Texan, was pitching a game that was on the American beauty order, Gray was as wild as a kid that has been readings dime novels. Gray walked eight men, but there was a time when it looked as if the Beavers were not going to gain much, despite his generosity. In the fourth, with Dillon on the brine, Bashear singled to right, and McCredie's digits got in the way of the bounder, and the ball went to the fence, giving Kitty a chance to perch on third. Jud Smith scored him nicely with a successful squeeze play.

In the fifth the Angels annexed another and tied the score. Delmas drove one to left and Hogan put him on second with a sacrifice. Delmas went to third on Gray's out and scored on a single by Oakes. Cooney brought the crowd to its collective feet when he grabbed Wheeler's grounder off the keystone sack and threw the runner out at third.

Nothing stirring for the locals then until the sixth, when the runs came in bunches. Garrett walked, but Ryan fell for three of Gray's twisters. Raftery walked and Danzig punctured the air with a safe biflet. With three on the way stations, Bassey spanked out a two-bagger that went so far out in the lot that all three runners scored. Johnson's infield grass-trimmer escaped Smith and Delmas hit Ellis on the foot, and Bassey scored. Johnson got down to second on a passed ball and then stole third. It was a brilliant effort, but it did not buy anything, for neither McCredie nor Cooney could get the ball out of the diamond.

The four runs cinched the game anyway, but to make it safe there were two more in the eighth. Oakes, after a hard run, dropped Danzig's long drive to center. Bassey saw that he got to second by a sacrifice. Johnson was not through hammering out two-baggers, so he rapped out another that Oakes came close to nabbing. That scored Danzig. Johnson rambled home when Hogan missed a shot from Oakes. Then a minstrel band played "Good-by, Dolly Gray."

SEALS LOSE TWO.

NOW IN LAST PLACE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The San Francisco Seals have reached the bottom of the ladder, and are reposing in the cellar championship. Their final undoing came today when they not only permitted Oakland to play horse with them in the forenoon, 8 to 3, but to shut them out in the afternoon drizzle, 2 to 0.

It's true that there is a small fraction separating the Acorns and the Seals, but that same 7 per cent. is enough to give the Oaklanders a chance to howl their joy and for the supporters to hunt for their holes. Again, the Seals lost five of the seven games, duplicating the result of the week before with the Angels.

There wasn't much of a story to tell in the afternoon. Had San Francisco been able to connect with Killian's curves, and once they had a good chance, with the bases full and but one out, there might have been something doing. But they were powerless and, even though Harry Sutor pitched good ball, the two runs that were bunched in one inning, gave Oakland the game.

All of the scoring was done in the second inning, when Cook, the first man at bat, walked. Hogan hit a sharp one to right that advanced Cook to third, and both men were scored when Altman kept his drive just inside the third-base line. Lewis sacrificed Altman, but when "Dutch" tried to beat it from third, after Killian retired on a high fly to Melchoir, he was doubled out.

Save for one inning, the seventh, the men were for the most part retired in quick order. In the seventh, with Mohler out on a fly to center, Williams walked, and Melchoir caught the ball for a right-field hit. Zeider laid the ball on the ground in the same direction and after a ball had been called on Piper, Berry was sent in to bat for him. The catcher, however, popped a high one, and McArdle retired the side.

It was the one opportunity for the fans to do some yelling, and when the Seals had ambled to the bench, there was little hope.

In the morning game, Theobald was hit all through the game. Wright, who pitched for Oakland, eased up in the ninth, when the score was 8 to 1 in his favor, and gave the San Francisco aggregation four hits and four runs.

SALT LAKES WIN.

GANAHL PITCHES WELL.

A fast and interesting game was played at Joy Park yesterday between the Salt Lakes and All Stars, the Salt Lakes winning by a score of 5 to 1.

The feature of the game was the hitting of the Salt Lakes. Eight members got one or more hits, and Clinton banged out a two bagger.

J. Mitchell, manager of the Salt Lakes, was presented with a pennant but he failed to make a speech, which the 500 fans called for.

In a throwing contest, Garrity threw 321 feet; Clinton, 276; Clark, 282, all these being of the Salt Lakes; Babe Whaling of the Eagles, 275 feet. He hurt his arm and they called off the foot race between him and Mitchel.

Joe Proditte, the first time at bat, was presented with a bouquet.

The Dyas-Climes will meet the Salt Lakes at Joy Park next Sunday in the last game of the series. The Christopher-Levys go to San Diego and the Eagles to Chino.

Tiny Yacht Proves an Easy Winner in Long Ocean Race from Marblehead to Bermuda.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAMILTON (Bermuda) June 7.—With her starboard rail under water and driving under three lower sails in a twenty-knot breeze, the Venona, owned by George E. Bliss of Boston, and carrying the flag of the Eastern Yacht Club, crossed the finish line at 3:34 this afternoon, winning in class three, in the race from Marblehead, Mass., to Hamilton, the start of which was made shortly after 11 o'clock last Wednesday morning.

When the Venona crossed no other yacht was in sight. The elapsed time was 99 hours, 32 minutes, 15 seconds, and the corrected time, 98:12:15.

The Venona is the smallest boat in the fleet. Capt. Bliss and his crew account for the fine run by their keeping well to the eastward on Thursday and Friday, as they picked up the southeast gale last night and ran fast and with slacked sheets. The little yacht's best run was 193 miles from noon on Saturday to noon Sunday.

Soon after the Venona finished, another yacht appeared on the horizon. It proved to be the Marchioness. She was fully twenty miles behind the winner. At dark tonight she still had five miles to go.

Oakland to Have Best Affair Ever Held in the West—Entries in from Fifty Towns.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Entries close on Tuesday for the Oakland harness races, which are to be held in August.

This meeting gives promise of being the biggest ever held in the West. Over fifty towns in California are represented in the stake features. Many of the fast classes close on Tuesday and the cream of the Coast trotters and pacers are sure to be entered.

There are many horses in training all over the State and the outlook is bright for a revival of sulky racing.

Fine Rainbow Trout.

A rainbow trout twenty-two inches long and weighing three pounds, said to be the largest of its kind ever taken to be the largest of its kind ever was received yesterday by W. C. Sparks of Sherman, from his brother, Henry Sparks, at Ventura. The fine specimen was caught in the upper Ventura River, above Matilija hot springs, together with a fine string of smaller trout, twenty of which weighed thirteen pounds. The catch of the big fish was made with a No. 8 hook.

runs, which comprised three boundaries, and he gave an exhibition of such defensive play that several changes in the bowling had to be resorted to.

Evans then went in, and with only 4 more runs added, Barwell was run out; Gadson being responsible for his dismissal by a smart piece of fielding. Brown, who then went in, opened his account with a single, Brunton then took the ball from Lewis, and with only 62 on the board, Evans, after making one, was clean bowled by Stanton.

WALKER IN FORM.

Walker, fresh from his magnificent innings against the Pilgrims last Saturday, then went in and scored a 2 to mid on. He then drove Stanton to long off for 3. Brown, in trying to pull Brunton to leg, skied the ball, which Watts accepted. Meggett, the next man in, after taking his center, scored a single off Stanton. At 74, Hunt again went on, bowling in place of Brunton, and with only one run added, the Tyke sent up a catch to Tomkins in the deep field. The left-hander tried hard to catch it, but it was too difficult. Meggett then settled down and steadily increased his score by ones and twos, and, backed by Walker, who was punishing the bowling, the score was taken to 96 before Watts clean bowled the Tyke. Bird then went in and played the balance of the over. With the score unchanged, Tomkins again went on in place of Hunt. Bird was then unfortunately run out and seemed reluctant to leave his crease, claiming that the wicket-keeper had fumbled the ball, but as Mitchell gave him out, the decision was a just one.

With Salter as his partner, Walker then neatly cut Watts for 2. In the following over, Salter sent up the century amid the usual applause, and made the winning hit in the next stroke by another 2 to long off. With the score at 109, Gadson relieved Tomkins. When Walker had made 21, he gave a chance to Heavens, the wicket-keeper, but the catch was not accepted. Walker showed his approval by cutting Gadson for 2. Lewis then missed Salter in the slips, off Watts, and in the following over Heavens again missed Walker behind the wicket.

At 124 Stanton went on bowling in place of Watts, but Salter got him away three times in succession for 2, when he was then clean bowled by Gadsdon after making 24 in brilliant style. F. Bamford then went to the wicket, but owing to the drawing of stumps, failed to open his account. Walker again made top score for his side, and carried out his bat for 29, by stylish and painstaking cricket.

W. Giles and A. R. Mitchell acted as umpires, while E. Cooper was official scorer. Following is the full score and bowling analysis:

BIFF! BANG!

PUGS ATTRACT LARGE CROWDS.

FIGHT BUGS SEE JOHNSON AND VAN DOOZER WORK.

Big Novice Makes a Showing That Surprises the Spectators and Some Believe He Will Force the Battler to Step Some—Sam Berger May Secure Langford and Ketchel.

Both Battling Johnson and Van Doozer put in a strenuous day in their training yesterday, and both drew good-sized crowds to see them work. Van showed himself at Naud Junction pavilion before a large corwd, and the sports were generally pleased at his action, the only question in the public mind being whether he could mach Johnson's strength and experience and stick it out with a man who fought two hard battles with Jim Flynn. Van went through the shadow work first and then boxed the Turk six fast rounds.

It is generally believed that he will give Johnson a good run for the money, and some say he has a chance to put away the big fellow. He has certainly learned a lot about the game while boxing with Jack (Twin) Sullivan, and he is anxious enough to make a good showing in his first battle, but he is surely taking on a tough nut in Johnson.

The Battler quit his gym work yesterday for the day, and about all he did was to run ten miles on the roads around San Pedro. He will resume his boxing again today, if he can coax some of the San Pedro aspirants to take a chance at a mauling.

Bubbles Robinson, the good colored boy, who is to fight Young Fitzgerald in the curtain-raiser of six rounds, is doing his work at the pavilion, and is showing up in good shape. This live wire has had the opportunity of boxing with Gans when the champion was training for his recent fight with Unholz, and he has improved a lot since his last appearance here. Fitzgerald started work several days ago, and promises to be in shape. Cameron and Holbrook, who will fight the semi-final of ten rounds Friday night, worked hard yesterday, but will ease up from now on.

Something Good.

The information leaked out last night that while Sam Berger was here last week to try and secure the Welsh-McFarland fight, he did not let that interfere with his other business. He secured the consent of the black wonder, Sam Langford, to fight Ketchell in San Francisco on Admission Day, September 9, and is now working on Ketchel, but may not get him, for Stanley is said to have gone on to New York, and has probably by this time arranged to fight for Coffroth. This would be a match worth going miles to see.

Willie Britt Busy.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Willie Britt tonight announced he had signed as manager for Joe Thomas and had wired to Ketchel that he would match him with Thomas for a six-round fight in New York. Willie seems to think the man whom Ketchel whipped so decisively is still a live one, but no one else does.

PHILLY FIGHT CARD.

O'BRIEN FIGHTS WEDNESDAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The principal boxing bout of the week here will take place on Wednesday night at the National Athletic Club, when Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Jack Blackburn will meet. Both men have been in training for several weeks, but they were compelled to ease down for a time, as the bout had to be postponed a week on account of O'Brien's sprained ankle.

Adam Ryan and Jack O'Neill will figure in the wind-up at the Douglas Athletic Club on Tuesday, and Tommy Devlin and Young Nitchie at the Ontario Club on Friday. Kid Wolgast of Milwaukee and Tommy O'Toole have been matched for the National Athletic Club on Saturday.

Siler in Danger.

CHICAGO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Siler continues to improve, following his sudden heart attack of Thursday, but he is not yet regarded as out of danger. While able to move around early in the day, his physicians ordered his return to bed, and he is still very weak. It is thought, however, that his state of health will contribute to change for the better.

FAST MOTORS BUSY.

Over Thirty Riders Practice on New Saucer Track at Seal Gardens for Coming Races.

So exciting was the cycle and motorcycle sport at Seal Gardens' saucer track Sunday that it drew people from a private picnic held on the grounds. About thirty-five wheelmen practiced, commencing at 7 o'clock in the morning and finishing at the same hour in the evening.

To many, the saucer track was a proposition so new as to cause the greatest of caution in the first attempts, but the strangeness soon wore off and instead of riding in the runway they guided their wheels up and down the steepest sides without accident.

Among some of the professionals practicing were: R. J. Duer, the Buffalo champion; Raymond Seymour, a lightweight amateur motorcycle rider; Robert H. Backrath of Sacramento; W. W. Anthony of Salt Lake; Buck King, C. Hallo, Alfred Ward, Erwin Knapp, M. J. Grawer, F. Hoffman, W. F. Tilden and E. Price. The majority of these will sign agreements in a few days to ride on July 4.

RECORD NOT BROKEN.

Strong Wind Holds Back Ambitious Cyclist in Race from Gilroy to San Jose.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Struggling for thirty-one miles against a stiff head wind, Cyclist John Berryessa of the Garden City Wheelmen failed today to break the paced Gilroy-San José record, established a year ago by Plinn Maginni of this city. Berryessa's time was 1h. 11m.

The record stands at 1h., 2m., or an average of a mile in two minutes. Berryessa is not disheartened by his failure to lower the record, and will make another attempt next Sunday, when he hopes to be aided in his race by a strong wind on his back.

Amateur Games.

Of the many amateur games played in this city and vicinity yesterday, scores have been received of the following:

At Thirty-eighth and Alameda the Home Telephone team beat the Wielands 3 to 1; at Thirty-eighth and Santa Fé avenue the Hughes beat the Crescents 13 to 2; at Agricultural Park the Percivals beat the Racyclas 14 to 7; at Stevenson and Lorena the Niedmores beat the Anchor Athletic Club 11 to 1; at Washington and Alameda the Americans beat the Japs 7 to 5; at Thirty-eighth and Santa Fé the Lukes beat the Meeks 11 to 3; at Venice the Pasadena team beat Venice 2 to 0; at Norwalk the Rivers team beat the Norwalks 10 to 5; at Gardena the Poinsettias beat the Gardena team 18 to 4; at Hynes the Pico Heights team beat Hynes 9 to 1; at Florence the Pendos beat the Florence team 15 to 4; at Arcadia the Santa Anita team beat the Valencia 15 to 3; and the Hoegees beat the Edisons 4 to 1.

PASADENA CAR KILLS MAN.

Accident Happens Near Bairdstown. Victim Unidentified—Trucks Jacked up to Get Body.

An unidentified man was killed by an in-bound Pasadena car at 10:20 o'clock last night, near Bairdstown. He was dressed in overalls and a soft black shirt and was about 45 years old. The body was taken to Pierce Brothers' morgue and an inquest will be held today.

When the car struck him, he was hurled several feet and then crushed under the wheels. It was necessary to raise the trucks off the rails in order to extricate the body.

TOURIST DROPS DEAD.

Charles Wiltse, a tourist of Earlton, Kas., dropped dead on the sidewalk in front of No. 337 South Olive street at 11 o'clock last night. The body was discovered by a woman, who telephoned to the Police Station. It is believed that death was due to heart disease. A decree of divorce from Marie Wiltse, granted about two years ago at Fredonia, Kas., was found in a pocket. Several letters were also found. The body was taken to Bresee Brothers' morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

DEATH MAY FOLLOW BURNS.

G. Cortea, a laborer living in Puente, was perhaps fatally burned yesterday afternoon, when a can of kerosene exploded. He was taken to the County Hospital. Cortea was building a fire in a cookstove and the explosion took place when he poured kerosene on the lighted kindling.

KNEE CAP SHOT OFF.

While cleaning a revolver yesterday at his home in Covina, Antonio Ladesma accidentally shot himself in the thigh. The bullet took a downward course and tore of the knee cap. He was taken to the County Hospital.

DIVE CAUSES INJURIES.

Ray McClellan of No. 206 Lucas avenue was painfully injured last evening at Long Beach when he dived from a spring-board and his head came in contact with the bottom of the tank. He was treated at the Receiving Hospital.

COMMITS INFANTICIDE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The murder of a helpless infant came to light today in South San Francisco, just over the line in San Mateo county, when Mamie Slass confessed to Dist.-Atty. Joseph J. Bullock that she had strangled her own new-born babe to death, and had thrown its body into the bay. The body of the infant was found floating in the bay last Thursday.

ROYAL WELCOME.

GERMAN SHIPS GREET KING.

Give Grand Reception to England's Monarchs.

Royal Salutes Are Fired, and Crews Man Ship.

Unfavorable Weather Balks Plans of Czar.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KIEL, June 7.—King Edward, on board the royal yacht Victoria Albert, and accompanied by Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria and a large suite, met with a great reception here.

The German warships were dressed and the crews manned ship. Royal salutes were fired and the German sailors cheered the British monarch, while a guard of honor was brought up on the quay and the bands played the British anthem.

Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, and their son, paid a visit to their majesties and remained for nearly an hour aboard the Victoria and Albert.

A fleet of German torpedo boats and destroyers escorted the royal yacht out of the harbor on its way back to Reval.

It was really an impromptu review of the German fleet in honor of the King. Some forty powerful warships, which had just concluded ten days' maneuvering in the North Sea, were drawn up in line, parade formation, as the Victoria Albert passed.

ROUGH WEATHER INTERFERES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—On account of rough weather in the Gulf of Finland, the Emperor and members of the Imperial party have given up the sea trip, and will go by rail tomorrow to Reval to meet King Edward.

An unusual spell of unfavorable weather has caused a further change in the plans of the Emperor, who will not proceed far out to sea to meet King Edward. Instead, the interview between the two sovereigns will take place within the roadstead at Reval.

RIVAL TOWNS AT WAR.

Citizens Fight Pitched Battle With Revolvers in Streets in Eufaula, Oklahoma.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUFAULA (Okla.) June 7.—In a fight between fifteen Checotah persons and citizens of Eufaula this afternoon on the streets, F. M. Woods, deputy constable of this place, and Joseph Parmenter of Checotah, were shot. Woods probably will die. He was shot once through the body. Parmenter's wound is not dangerous.

The trouble started when Constable Woods attempted to disarm Parmenter. About fifteen shots were fired in all. With rifles and revolvers the Checotah people came to Eufaula to attempt to remove the county-seat records by force. The County Clerk is said to have furnished them the keys to the Courthouse, and the records were to be put in sacks and sent to Checotah on a special train.

Eufaula citizens were armed to prevent the removal, because a temporary injunction had been granted by the Supreme Court.

AGED BANKER MURDERED.

Retired Capitalist of Paris Is Found Stabbed to Death by Dessert Knife.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, June 7.—With the mystery of the murder of Adolph Steinheil and his mother-in-law, Mme. Japa, yet unsolved, the police have been confronted by a new mystery in the discovery of Auguste Renay, a wealthy retired banker, aged 77 years, stabbed to death with a dessert knife, in his mansion in the Rue de la Pepiniere.

The murder occurred some time last night, and money and jewelry of great value are missing.

The finding of a carafe of wine and three glasses that had been used, suggested that the three persons supposed to have been implicated in the Steinheil murder might be responsible for this crime.

BANDITS ROB PAY TRAIN.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 7.—Word reached here tonight that bandits attacked a pay train of the Los Grandes mines, near Balsac, in the State of Guerrero. Of the escort of four men, three men were killed and the fourth wounded. Four thousand dollars were stolen. Rurales are in pursuit of the highwaymen. The mine belongs to an American company.

TWO ARE KILLED.

MAUSTON (Wis.) June 7.—A tornado struck the farm of John Dalton, a well-to-do farmer, living about four miles south of Mauston, this afternoon, destroying his fine farmhouse and barns, and killing Mr. Dalton and his twelve-year-old son.

He Beat the Road.

Some years ago there lived in Arkansas a man named Reynolds who owned a narrow gauge railroad from Malvern Junction to Hot Springs. It was partly due to the fact that he had put by a neat little fortune and partly to his habit of wearing an enormous diamond shirt stud that he had won the nickname of Diamond Joe.

It was Diamond Joe's boast that no one had ever stolen a ride on his little twenty-five-mile road; and, not content with telling this to his friends, he offered a reward of $100 and a suit of clothes to the man who could do it.

One clear moonlight night a man came into his office, dripping from head to foot.

"Is this Mr. Reynolds?" he asked.

"Yes," replied the owner of the narrow gauge road, involuntarily glancing out to see if it was raining.

"Well, I've come for that suit of clothes and the $100. I've beat my way on your road, Mr. Reynolds, in the boiler tank of the engine; it was hard work keepin' my head above water, but I did it—and—here I am!" —[Philadelphia Ledger.

Japanese Iron Workers.

The Japanese were acquainted with iron from very early times. A sword that was used by one of the ancestors of the present Emperor about 800 B. C. is still in existence. Later, when the great civil war broke out in the sixth century, swordsmiths and armorsmiths came to occupy a prominent place. From this time on down to about 300 years ago no noticeable progress had been made. At the beginning of the seventeenth century all branches of industry began to prosper. The demand for iron implements increased and the scarcity of iron supply began to be felt.—[Engineering Magazine.

TEMPLE BEAUTIFUL.

CHURCH OWES NOT A CENT

Handsome Edifice Dedicated in Pasadena.

Presbyterian Pastor and His People Rejoice.

Baccalaureate Sermon for Throop Seniors.

PASADENA, June 8.—Without a cent of indebtedness, the Presbyterian Church, which cost $336,000, was dedicated yesterday. The congregation filled every seat in the magnificent edifice and it was a day of rejoicing for the pastor, Rev. Malcom J. McLeod, and his people.

Among the ministers who had seats on the rostrum were Rev. T. Cumming Beatie, the assistant pastor; Rev. Dr. L. P. Crawford, Rev. Dr. H. B. Gage, Rev. Dr. Powers, Rev. Dr. William S. Young and Rev. Dr. Robert J. Burdette.

The sermon, which was preached by Dr. Burdette, was on "The Gate Beautiful," the text being: "And a certain man, lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the Temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple." (Acts III, 2) In the course of his address, the speaker said:

"They had to do something with him for he was poor and helpless—a beggar; a burden to himself, to his friends and to the community. And he had been a burden ever since he was born. But helplessness isn't burdensome—to love. This cripple-beggar came into the world a joy. His very weakness made him dear—how dear none but a mother can know. They laid him in her arms; a tiny bundle of helplessness, warm and soft and sweet; snuggling with feeble strength into her arms. How lustily he cried, and how she smiled to hear him. The baby walls were music to the mother heart. With her own weak arms she drew him into her caress, held him close to her warm breast, and smiled and thanked God for her joy as he fell asleep at the dear fount of his life. Her baby boy! And the women about her bed laughed softly and left her with their whispered injunctions. The baby grew, and one day the mother stood him on his feet; but the weak little legs doubled under his tiny weight. 'He is too little,' she murmured. And carried him on her heart as before. Then one other day she tried again. And again she said, 'My baby is too little; he mustn't try to walk yet.' And another day and another day she tried. Until at last, one bitter day, she tried just once more, and then she laid him on his little bed and bowed her white, frightened face upon him and tried to pray. But the broken heart could only sob, sob, sob—for the mother heart knew the truth she had feared. The sweetness of the gift of God had turned to wormwood. Her soul cried out for help and sympathy, for pity and love. Why had God forgotten her baby, after He sent him to her?

GOD DOESN'T FORGET.

"Ah, beloved, God doesn't forget. When we can't walk, He stoops down and gathers us into the Everlasting Arms, and carries us. I've seen Him carrying men fifty years old.

"Where could his friends take this lame man? To the hospital? There wasn't a hospital in the world. What was there, then? Prisons—thousands of them. To the asylum for the Incurable? There wasn't such an asylum in the world. What was there? Dungeons—thousands of them. What did the world have for the weak and the sinful; the wayward and the ignorant? Torture chambers, stocks and scourges and gallows and iron cages, such as are made for wild beasts. And what had it for the blind, the lame, the helpless and the afflicted? In all this world of beauty there was but one place for the lame man, and that was at the 'Gate which is called Beautiful.' That was the gate that opened into the house of God. 'My Father's House,' Jesus loved to call it.

WORLD LEARNS QUICKLY.

"How quickly the world learned to bring its sufferers to the feet of Jesus the merciful—the healing Christ—Himself the Gate Beautiful, the Door to Hope and Joy and Peace. In the first year of His ministry we read, 'Now when the sun was setting, they brought unto Him all that were sick, and them that were possessed with devils, and all the city was gathered together at the door.' When Jesus taught in any house, that was the house of God. When he taught in any place, that was the 'Gate of Heaven.' He stood at the door of the sepulcher of Lazarus and the tomb was aglow with the purity and sweetness, the power and the righteousness of the Son of God, while the splendid temple, a few miles away, with golden altar and smoking fires of sacrifice and drifting clouds of incense and chanting service of the priests, was a 'den of thieves.'

"It is the will of Christ that the world shall bring its sorrows and suffering and sins to him. 'Bring him unto me,' He said to His disciples at Caesarea Philippi, when He came down from the Mount of Transfiguration and the writhing, epileptic struggled with the fiends of pain and misrule that tortured him. 'And Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and the boy was cured from that hour.'

"So men brought their sorrows and sins and ignorance to His feet in Galilee. Then He ascended to His Father's throne of glory and sat at the right hand of universal power. And falling sweet and clear as a falling star from the bright cloud that caught Him from their earthly sight, dropped into the heart of all time and all lands His words of omnipotent assurance: 'Lo, I am with you alway!' And ever since that day the world has brought its troubles to the 'Gate Beautiful'—the door of the church—the feet of Jesus.

"The church of Christ on earth, in the spirit of its Divine Head, gives to the poor and the needy of the world; gives to those who deserve, and to those who are wickedly unworthy; gives bread to the hungry mouth even while the ungrateful heart hates and the spiteful tongue reviles the loving giver; gives to the whining liar and the cringing hypocrite. When the hungering multitude clustered close about Jesus Christ in the Galilee wilderness he commanded his disciples, 'Give ye them to eat.' And some of the hungry multitude were hateful; some were hostile; some were lazy; some were mean; one would deny Him; one would betray Him; many would be ungrateful; many would forget Him; only a few loved Him. Yet was His command to His disciples then, His command to His church of today, 'Give ye them to eat.'"

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

At the First Christian Church last night Rev. F. M. Dowling, the pastor, preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Throop Polytechnic Institute. His subject was "Maelstrom, or Fountain—Two Radically Different Views of Life." He told of the self-centered, absorbing life that might be chosen, and showed how much better is a self-sacrificing, dispensing life. He pointed out that the maelstrom is a selfish, small and contracting type of life, while the fountain life is large and capable of development; that the one means failure in a career, while the other assures glorious success.

The next event of Throop commencement week will be the annual Fitz E. Beach oratorical contest at the Assembly Hall tonight.

"WET SPOT" VANISHES.

The White Front restaurant, which has been known as the "Life-Saving Station" among the thirsty, is no more. Early this morning Chief of Police Favour raided the place, finding a bar stocked with all kinds of liquor. Pictures of it were taken and Charles Miller, one of the owners, was arrested, and will appear in court tomorrow morning. He was released last night on $600 bail.

The restaurant, which is located at No. 59 South Fair Oaks avenue, has been watched by the police for some time. Yesterday morning, when officers entered, an employé, Clinton Dayton, rang a bell, as a signal to the men in the back room, but this availed nothing. Half a dozen beer drinkers were secured, and will appear as witnesses.

MRS. WHITCOMB DEAD.

Mrs. Julia Whitcomb died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Anderson, No. 81 Palmetto Drive, Saturday. The funeral will be held at the chapel of Pierce Bros., No. 317 Lincoln avenue, at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be at Evergreen Cemetery, Los Angeles.

AMATEUR MINSTRELS.

Few amateur performances have met with, or merited the enthusiastic reception accorded the minstrel show given Saturday evening at the Valley Hunt clubhouse by twelve merry gentlemen, who, under the disguise of burnt cork and in flamboyant costumes, delighted an audience composed of more than 300 Pasadena society people.

With J. S. Macdonnell as interlocutor, Senator C. W. Bell, and Thaddeus Lowe as end men, the black-faced circle was made up of Messrs. Fred Elmer Wilcox, Harry Thompson, Sam Hinds, Pierre Gilliland, Roy Hull, Sumner Cristy, Ben Leslie, Bradley and Phillips.

From the opening chorus, "Dixie Dan," to the closing refrain, "Golden Wedding," each was full of melody, strong and sparkling. Mr. Bell in his solo, "Fam'ly Tree," with acrobatic accompaniment, scored an immense hit, and Mr. Lowe carried the house by storm with his song, "Brother Noah Gave Out the Checks for Rain." Mr. Gilliland's topical song, "All I Get is 'Much Obliged to You,'" was encored to a finish; Mr. Hinds gave a monologue to an audience accompaniment of rippling laughter; "Don' You Cry Ma Honey," "Sweetheart Days" and "As Long as the World Rolls On," rendered musically and respectively by Messrs. Thompson, Bradley and Leslie, completed a programme interspersed with jokes appreciated for their spontaneous wit and their personal application to many present.

Part second was a wedding reception scene, in which Mr. Macdonnell appeared as the dusky bride, and Mr. Lowe impersonated a robust, darky matron oin full evening costume of yellow, with a "Merry Widow" hat, which left nothing to the imagination. His solo, "Just Help Yourself," met with wild enthusiasm; Mr. Cristy gave a clog dance, and Mr. Phillips a banjo solo. Messrs. Hinds and Gilliland carried off the honors of the evening in their turn as sailor lads, singing "Baffin's Bay" in inimitable manner. A cake walk concluded the programme.

After the curtain fell the ballroom was cleared for dancing, and refreshments were served in the dining-room, where the table was presided over by Mrs. William Stanton and Mrs. William R. Staats.

FOUR BATHERS NEARLY DROWN.

HUGE BREAKER CATCHES FAMILY AT LONG BEACH.

Quick Action by Watchful Guards and Fact That Catamaran Is Luckily Available Avert Catastrophe. Dozen Men Dive to Rescue Old Woman Who Slips from Launch.

LONG BEACH, June 7.—A catamaran, used occasionally by the life guards, was luckily available this morning, otherwise an entire family, consisting of father, mother and two children, might have been drowned. The boat had been in use and was left floating in shallow water, when the crew went ashore to make some repairs to the regular lifeboat.

At 11 a.m. W. F. Taylor, traveling salesman for the Toledo Scale Company, with his wife and daughters, Ruth ang May, left their home at No. 539 Daisy avenue, to take a dip in the ocean. They went in opposite the bathhouse, and, although none could swim, ventured out as far as they could wade, the children placing full faith in the father. The tide was very low, and the quartette was thus able to get beyond the breaker line, where the water deepens rapidly.

Suddenly a big breaker towered twelve feet above them, threw them off their feet, and tossed them about like corks. Helpless, the family was borne in on the wave toward shore and then, as the water receded, went with it. Taylor regained his feet and, seeing the form of his youngest daughter passing him, caught it. The mother and other daughter were not in sight.

On shore the watchful guards were quick to act. There was no time to launch the lifeboat, so Cobb and Mueller raced madly through the surf to the catamaran, and with one powerful shove, sent it over the breaker line. On the next approaching wave were Mrs. Taylor and her elder daughter, and they were picked up by the life guards. Taylor and his younger child were stricken again by the wave, but were picked up on the ebb. The four were rushed into the bath-house; the father and children required but little attention, but Mrs. Taylor was unconscious, and two hours' work was necessary to restore her to consciousness. This afternoon she was reported out of danger.

The accident was witnessed by hundreds, and the promptness of the life guards won warm praise. The utility of the catamaran was successfully demonstrated, and the craft will probably be added to the permanent equipment of the life-saving station.

SWIFTLY RESCUED.

Mrs. Harriet Cowles, 70 years of age, narrowly escaped death this afternoon. She was returning from a boat ride to San Pedro, and in stepping from the launch to the landing steps, slipped and went down between the boat and the pier into twenty-eight feet of water. A dozen men sprang after her, and she was lifted from the water with a suddenness that startled her. She was invited into the wharfinger's office to rest and secure dry clothing, but refused, and hustled home.

The Woodmen of the World held their annual memorial services today. They decorated the graves of dead brothers and unveiled three monuments to recently deceased members, S. B. Walter, George H. Keller and E. D. Bailey. W. L. Brown acted as master of ceremonies.

CHEAP FARE TO SHIPS.

The presence of the Pennsylvania and Maryland was a fair drawing magnet today. Several hundred visitors were taken to the ships, only 10 cents fare being charged by the launch owners.

Half a dozen sailors appeared on the Pike today under the influence of liquor and showed a disposition to run things. Officers Frank and Gallemore sent the two ringleaders to jail to sober up, and a threatened riot was averted. Later Gallemore took a great bottle of whisky away from a quartette of sailors and smashed it against a post. They told him he was no gentleman, or he would not have destroyed such valuable stuff, especially in Long Beach, where it is hard to get.

At a meeting of the local G.A.R. Post last night, Senior Vice-Commander A. E. Hall was elected Post Commander to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. Charles W. Bouner. H. W. Hyde was nominated Senior Vice-Commander and will be elected at the next meeting.

ANTI-SALOON FIELD DAY.

An anti-saloon field day was held at five of the local churches today. Dr. E. S. Chapman, Rev. D. M. Gandier and Miss Glenn Will addressed large audiences on phases of the liquor question.

When the Council meets next Thursday City Attorney Long will rule that Councilman Stearns, being a director of a local gas company, has no right to vote on the pending ordinance, which provides for a flat rate of $1 per thousand. This will leave the Council a tie on the question, compelling the Mayor to cast the deciding vote. As he vetoed a previous ordinance which called for $1.25 per thousand, with a rebate for prompt payment, the advocates of $1 gas are jubilant.

LONG BEACH NOTES.

The Long Beach district of Sunday-school workers, just organized by State Secretary Hugh Gibson, has elected as officers: L. B. Palmer, president; Rev. H. George Cooley, vice-president; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Austin; treasurer, W. J. Morrison; superintendent, Rev. E. W. Thornton; assistants, Mrs. Charles F. Ross, Susie Flournoy, Mrs. R. W. Clelland, Mrs. Judson Daniels, Dr. A. H. Lindley, Mrs. M. T. Cornwell, Mrs. J. R. Meader.

Realizing from the publicity given its refusal to furnish the city with data relative to its holdings and wells, that it had made a false move, the Long Beach Water Company yesterday notified the Mayor that the order was due to a misunderstanding and that all the maps and books are available at the company's office. The city, however, has employed a corps of engineers and is obtaining its own data.

The following are new officers of the Daughters of Rebekah: Noble Grand, Jennie Rathrock; Vice-Grand, Minnie Bodini; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Cora Hall; Trustee, L. W. Folsom.

The exhibition of the products of the manual training department of the school district is attracting much favorable interest. It is in charge of Misses May L. Riley and Nellie Moore.

R. R. Christie of the Asbestos company has made an offer to the City Council that if it erects a 125-foot standpipe at the highest point in Knoll Park he will keep it filled with water from the company's well at a minimum cost. The pumping will be done by utilizing the natural gas which flows from the well itself.

The First Presbyterian Sunday-school of Pasadena will picnic at Alamitos Bay next Saturday. Through cars will be run on the Pacific Electric Railway.

The Fraternal Brotherhood has elected as officers: Albert Edmond, President; Mrs. Rhoda Paine, Vice-President; Miss Viola Paine, Secretary; Gertrude Huff, Chaplain; E. D. Steen, Sergeant; Cora Morgan, Mistress-at-Arms; E. D. Steen and W. J. Walker, Trustees.

POMONA.

POMONA, June 7.—The funeral of the late Edward C. Howe will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the new Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of Pomona Masonic Lodge. The members will meet at Odd Fellows' Hall at 9 a.m., and proceed to Patterson's funeral chapel, thence to the church, where Rev. T. C. Creswell will officiate. From the new church, the cortége will go to the Old Presbyterian edifice, where carriages will be taken to the cemetery, the lodge having charge of the services there.

Mrs. Laura T. Bates of Los Angeles, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Cyrus Burdick.

Ganesha Park was thronged this afternoon, when a concert was given by the Seventh Regiment Band.

Miss Alice Bost of Minneapolis, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Johnstone, and grandmother, Mrs. Theodore Bost, for several months, left today for her home.

Richard Seaver, son of C. Seaver, of this city has a prominent part in the play to be given at Pomona College this commencement by the seniors.

It has been decided not to hold a celebration here this Fourth of July.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, June 7.—Parties returning this afternoon from up the coast as far as the Malibu wharf, near the mouth of Coal cañon, report the completion of the new wagon road to the site selected for sinking the first oil well of the Seabord Oil Company. The water has been developed and the hydraulic ram was placed yesterday and tested today. Water was forced to a height of 420 feet and the quantity appears sufficient for all purposes. The derrick is to be erected at once. The first well will be sunk about a quarter of a mile from the beach.

The logs are being hewn for a unique club to be built in Santa Monica Cañon, near the mouth of Rustic, within the next twenty days. It is to be the rendezvous for automobile and trolley parties. It will be near the pits now being prepared for the daily barbecues, which are to be a feature of life in the cañon during the summr. Near by will be tents for hunters beneath the sycamores. The new resort will be ready coincident with the arrival of the trolley, July 1. Water will be developed all through the cañons and there will be rustic bridges at convenient points.

Dr. and Mrs. William Ogden are preparing to return to Pasadena, where they formerly resided.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hampton left today for San Francisco.

Miss Flora Campbell of El Paso, Tex., is the guest of Mrs. T. E. Crain of Ninth street.

The women of the Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will give a social Tuesday evening, in the church parlors.

An Inconvenient Shoulder Blade.

Peter Stroup, who lives in Germantown, has an inconvenient shoulder blade. Yesterday he threw it out of joint for the hundredth time.

The elusive bone reached its century accident mark while its owner tried to tie his shoe. But Peter does not need a shoe for an excuse to play hide and seek with that shoulder blade. It's all the same whether he reached in his hip pocket for his bandana or lifts his knife to his mouth at the table. Every time the shoulder blade takes a notion, it slips its trolley, and then, until the doctors patch it up, its power is off.

The physicians at the Germantown Hospital and Peter's shoulder blade are old acquaintances. A short time ago the ambulance was called to take him to the hospital. Passing over some rough cobblestones on the way, the heavy wagon joggled the bone into place. Another time after the doctors had spent a quarter of an hour working the bone into place, the ambulance, in taking him home again, jarred it out.—[Philadelphia North American.

Perils of Smoking.

It is a wonder that anybody dares to smoke nowadays. A great cloud of medical men encompasses us, all shouting warnings against cigars, pipes and cigarettes on the ground that they give us smokers' heart and tobacco amblyopia and other painful things. The other day a man found himself smoking a hairpin, which had somehow managed to become embedded in his cigar.—[London Globe.

MAN OF MYSTERIOUS ENGINE CLAIMS SUCCESS.

Like Voice from Tomb Comes Word to Venice from Secretary of Almost Forgotten Le Roy Air Power Company, and Paper Millionaires Again Rejoice.

VENICE, June 7.—Like a wig-wag signal from some other shore has come the following telegram to John Makin, secretary of the almost-forgotten Le Roy Air Power Manufacturing Company:

"The engine has been completed and is in operation. It is a success beyond highest expectations."

The message was flashed from Mars, a little city in Pennsylvania, and bears the signature of William R. Le Roy, inventor of the mysterious engine and president of the corporation, the sale of whose stock gave beach people a financial brainstorm about a year ago. At that time LeRoy was securing patents for his engine which, through the utilization of air, water and electricity—the latter of its own generation—he promised would go on, like the brook, forever.

All of a sudden, one balmy day, Le Roy slid from penury to affluence. He apparently had money to burn. He produced documents purporting to show that he had accepted an offer of $50,000,000 for the assets of the corporation. Of this, $50,000 was stated to have been paid in cash, and the remainder was to come later in three installments. But legal entanglements arose and the representative of the billions failed to "come across" with the deferred payments. During the weeks in which his coming was awaited, the "hot air" stock, as it was called, jumped by leaps and bounds, from a fraction of a cent to $10 per share. Several local investors cleared up small fortunes during the flurry and those who had grub-staked Le Roy during the early stages of the game, reckoned their fortunes, on paper, by the millions.

Le Roy faded away, taking his patterns East, where he said he would have the engine manufactured. The telegram is the first word from the inventor since then. He says the engine has not stopped since it was started and that he will return here at an early day to make a demonstration of it to the stockholders.

CRUISER ATTRACTS.

The cruiser Washington was the attraction here today. She was at anchor just off the Kinney breakwater and during visiting hours a fleet of launches was busy carrying people to and fro. The beach was the rallying ground for thousands of strangers. The naval band rendered a concert at the plaza bandstand.

The new baseball park was formally dedicated. The Venice team made its first appearance beat at the hands of the Pasadena nine. The score was 2 to 0.

Under the direction of the Epworth League, a memorial service was held aboard the Washington this evening in memory of the members of the crew of the Tennessee, who lost their lives in the explosion Friday. About forty seaside members of the league visited the ship and assisted in the service.

The Inspector's Double.

"How many seed compartments are there in an apple?" he asked. No one answered. "And yet," continued the school inspector, "all of you eat many an apple in the course of a year and see the fruit every day, probably. You must learn to notice the little things in nature."

The talk of the inspector impressed the children, and at recess the teacher overheard them discussing it. A little girl, getting her companions around her, gravely said:

"Now, children, just suppose I am Mr. Taylor. You've got to know more about common things. If you don't, you'll all grow up to be fools. Now, tell me, Minnie," she continued, looking sternly at a playmate, "how many feathers are there on a hen?"—[Philadelphia Ledger.

Brainy Fat Man.

The annals of genius are filled to overflowing with the names of men who toiled and achieved fame under a full habit. Nothing can be more unjust than the gibe about "fat and folly" and fatness and indolence. Martin Luther was as fat as Calvin was thin; Ernest Renan's obesity did not obscure his insight and brilliancy.

Many writers and speakers have too long spoken invidiously of fatness, but the best report we have been able to glean in our researches into this weighty subject is that of C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher. "People," said Spurgeon, "say I am fat. I am not fat. I am bone and flesh. My limbs, thank God, are amply clothed and I am in my right mind.—[Strand Magazine.

FEDERAL COURT IN SAN DIEGO?

BAR ASSOCIATION TAKES STEPS TOWARD THAT END.

Lawyers Complain of Inconveniences of Trip to Los Angeles and Say Rapidly Increasing Legal Business of County Demands Change. June Snowstorm—Bond Sale.

SAN DIEGO, June 7.—The Bar Association has taken steps for the establishment of a branch of the Federal court in this city and these resolutions have been adopted:

"Whereas, the increasing importance of San Diego and its surrounding territody has caused, and is causing material increase in the amount of litigation in the United States Circuit and District courts, in which the inhabitants of this city and the territory tributary thereto are involved; and, in consequence thereof and of the fact that there are no United States courts at said city, such litigation at the present time necessitates the frequent attendance of members of the bar of San Diego county at the city of Los Angeles; and

"Whereas, by virtue of the distance of United States Circuit and District courts from said city of San Diego and of consequent inconvenience and expense of attendance upon them, many causes which might otherwise be more properly and satisfactorily presented in such Federal courts are now presented elsewhere; and,

"Whereas, the government of the United States is about to erect in said city of San Diego a Federal building in which accommodations for such United States court can, and should be provided; now, therefore be it

"Resolved, by the Bar Association of the county of San Diego, State of California, that it is the sense of the bar and said county that there should at once be enacted legislation requisite to provide for holding sessions of said United States courts at San Diego, and that, in the designs for said Federal building provision should be made for the accommodation of said courts. And it is further

"Resolved, that the secretary of the association be and is hereby directed to transmit a certified copy of these resolutions to the Hon. S. C. Smith, Congressman from the Eighth California district, and to the Hon. George C. Perkins and to the Hon. Frank P. Flint, United States Senators from California."

SNOW FALLS IN JUNE.

Snow fell at the Cuyamaca dam last Thursday. This is considered a freak of nature, as it has been forty years since there has been any snow in this county at this time of year. Manager George McCain of the Cuyamaca Hotel says it was a genuine storm. Cuyamaca is fifty-four miles from this city, and its elevation is 4600 feet.

DEATH MAY RESULT.

Marcus Bettman, aged 22, whose parents live in Los Angeles, fell from a scaffold while at work on the U. S. Grant Hotel building, and received injuries to his spine that may cause his death. He was wheeling a barrow and fell only two feet, but three weeks ago he fell from the third story.

TREASURER SELLS BONDS.

County Treasurer John Schwartz has sold a $4400 issue of bonds of the Lemon Grove school district to G. F. Otto of this city for a premium of $50. The bonds are redeemable in $500 lots, one lot each year after 1911. They draw 6 per cent. interest.

CONTRACTORS COMPLAIN.

The selection of J. D. Spreckels, E. W. Scripps and A. G. Spaulding as overseers of boulevard construction inside the city has aroused the wrath of grading contractors, who threaten to prevent the Board of Public Works from carrying out its plans unless construction work is submitted for open bids. Contractors think that the board intends to hire laborers by the day, and place them under the direct supervision of the overseers with the expectation of getting better results in road building than would be obtained under the contract system. This plan has not yet been adopted, and matters pertaining to the duties of the overseers will be discussed at a meeting Monday afternoon.

ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC.

Station to Be Established at Brawley to Tell About Imperial County Weather.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, June 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A station of the United States Weather Bureau is to be established in Imperial Valley. H. F. Bigelow, professor of meteorology from the bureau at Washington, and A. B. Wollaber, formerly in charge of the Los Angeles station, are in the valley making arrangements, and have selected Brawley as the location.

A fully equipped weather observatory will be in operation July 1, and daily reports will be sent by wire to the Los Angeles office.

Three stations for making evaporation tests are to be located at Salton Sea, one on the shore line half a mile out, and the third as far out on the water as practicable. Observations of temperature at various depths and of the rate of evaporation, will be taken eight times every twenty-four hours.

The Brawley station will supply data on the climatic conditions of Imperial Valley, which are now lacking, or only guessed at.

The cold spell, which has retarded ripening of melons, seems to have come to an end. It is warm today, and the pickers expect to be busy by Monday or Tuesday.

TUSTIN.

TUSTIN, June 7.—Valencia orange shippers are getting busy. Last week ten cars were started East by the Tustin Packing Company, also one of lemons.

Perry Lewis has purchased twenty acres on the Irvine boulevard. It will be planted to walnuts and be irrigated from Lewis's pumping plant on his adjoining orange orchard.

A Family of Murderers.

A grim epitaph, perhaps unexampled, is to be found in the cemetery of Debrecin, Eastern Hungary.

It reads as follows: "Here rest in the Lord Joseph Moritz, Sr., who died in his sixty-second year. He was shot by his son, Fran Joseph Moritz, who died in her forty-seventh year. She was shot by her daughter, Elizabeth Moritz, who died by her own hand, in her seventeenth year, after shooting her mother. Joseph Moritz, who died in prison, aged 23. He had shot his father. May eternal mercy have pity on their poor sinful souls."

The last of this unfortunate family left a sum of £1500 for the purpose of setting up this memorial.—[London Globe.

Council and Street Railway Company Bury Hatchet—Three Hundred Men at Work on Million-Dollar Verde Power Project—Prescott Will Vote on School Bonds.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 6.—The anti-saloon wave has struck here. At the last meeting of the City Council a petition with 638 signatures was submitted, asking for Sunday closing of saloons, as well as between midnight and 7 a.m. week days. Attorney Vyne asked passage of the legislation on the ground that frontier days have passed here and the city must accommodate itself to modern ideas if it desires immigration of home-makers. Councilman Belcher, part owner of the largest saloon, moved that the petition be referred to the Sanitary Committee. This was agreed to, despite the protests of the petitioners present. It is understood this action means defeat.

Cars are again running to West Prescott. The City Council and President Frank Wright of the street railway company have buried the hatchet to extent that the railway is permitted to use the municipal bridge across Granite Creek at an annual rental of $80.

BIG POWER PROJECT.

Three hundred men are working on the Verde power project and orders are being placed for $200,000 worth of machinery and for 500,000 pounds of copper wire. The total cost will be about $1,250,000. About 7500-horse-power will be generated by harnessing the waters of Fossil Creek, the principal customer being the United Verde Copper Company at Jerome, to which place the wires, carrying a voltage of 45,000, will be first taken, on 750 steel towers. It is expected the system will be completed through to Prescott and to the principal Bradshaw Mountain mining camps early next year.

Gov. Kibbey delivered the commencement address at the closing exercises of the Jerome schools.

Rev. Orville Coats was the principal speaker at the closing exercises of the Prescott High School, his text being "Shooting Stars." The graduates were Louise Draper, Lemyra Wilder, Edith Gatfield, Jennie Dagga, Dorothy Drake, Mary F. Gardner, Philip Beach and Warren Myers. The next term will commence August 29.

Prescott will soon vote on an issue of $30,000 bonds, proposed by the school trustees for the further improvement of the local school accommodations. A. F. Wood has been reelected school superintendent.

C. A. Keller has been chosen Mayor of Flagstaff by the members of the new Town Council.

Miss Nellie Swarthfigure, late of Los Angeles, was married here Tuesday to Dawson Lee, a mining engineer of Poland.

Congressman M. A. Smith has returned from Washington and spent the past week fishing in Oak Creek, near Flagstaff. He went south night before last, homeward bound for Tucson.

Nestor A. Young of Los Angeles is here on mining business.

LAND LOTTERY.

ALLOTMENT IMPENDING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 6.—Francis E. Leupp, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, spent several days this week at Fort Yuma Indian School, across the Colorado River from this city. It was his first visit to the reservation, which has somewhat added importance just now because of impending allotment of the irrigated lands to the Indians in severalty. Surveys have been commenced on the new ditches from the Laguna dam and upon the acreage allotments. It is understood these will be disposed of among the Indians by a sort of lottery, much as will be done with the balance of the reservation turned over to the whites, with the exception that all the Indians will get land, while nine-tenths of the white applicants must be disappointed.

Secretary Garfield of the Interior Department has advised the Yuma County Water Users' Association that homestead filings upon the reservation will be limited to fifteen acres each, with allowance for distance from Yuma. On the assumption that the ruling applies also to the mesa land around Yuma, there is a chorus of objection. Near Yuma are many holdings of a quarter section, where settlers have braved the desert for years past in the hope that they would be repaid for their hardships when the region finally was irrigated by the projected governmental works.

The Yuma cantaloupe shipments will aggregate about sixty carloads. The first carload will go out Monday. A large number of Indians, mainly Cocopahs, have been gathered for the work of picking and the labor question is believed to have been well settled. The first cantaloupes were brought into Yuma May 28. Watermelons also are on the market, bringing sixty cents each, while the earliest cantaloupes went fast at fifty cents apiece. Early figs have proved a bonanza, bringing very high prices this year in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

John Shansey has been reelected Mayor, to serve his third term. Frank Baxter was chosen City Attorney.

Fred L. Ingraham, assignee of the Valley Union Land and Water Company, has declared a 20 per cent. dividend on claims against the company.

Sunday afternoon, after winning a considerable sum at poker, Charles Friend walked out of a saloon and dropped out of sight. He was employed by a local banker. No clue can be found concerning his whereabouts, but his friends are disinclined to believe that his disappearance was voluntary.

Last week, County Surveyor W. H. Elliott and W. H. Wagner were lost on the desert, fifteen miles from Agua Caliente Hot Springs. They left their wagon on the plain, expecting to return to it after doing some exploration work. They lost their bearings and finally made their way to the springs, after going two days and a night without food or water.

The graduating exercises of the Yuma schools yesterday were made notable by the presence of President K. C. Babcock of the Territorial University, who spoke on the subject of "Educational Investments." A class of seven was graduated.

Played Ball With Death.

An explosion occurred in the Burmont Chemical and Torpedo Works by which four foreign workmen were seriously injured. It was in the mixing room, where the powder and torpedos are stored, and which is separated from the main building.

Two of the men, it is understood, were playing ball with torpedoes when one of the "balls" struck a brick wall and exploded.

The sparks set fire to a quantity of powder, and in the explosion that followed the building was gutted and the men were terribly burned.—[Philadelphia Record.

WINDING UP.

LIVELY WEEK AT UNIVERSITY.

PREPARING FOR LAST DAYS OF THE SCHOOL YEAR.

Commencement Events Start Next Sunday With Baccalaureate Sermon—Seniors Rehearsing for Play in Chapel Saturday Evening. "Prep" Exercises Tomorrow Night.

This week marks the final period preparatory to the graduation week proper at the University of Southern California, which begins next Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon, to be preached in the morning by Rev. Dr. Lewis T. Guild of San Diego; the student Christian association conferences in the afternoon, followed in the evening by the annual address by Rev. John Oliver of Santa Paula. The preaching will be in the University Church and the conference in the college halls.

Though the final examinations are slated to begin on Thursday, continuing through Tuesday of next week, the seniors are congratulating themselves on being relieved from the annual mental test, and will put in much time in earnest rehearsals for the senior play to be staged in the college chapel Saturday evening. An original production by Oliver Wilson, '08, entitled "The New Professor," will be presented by this year's graduates.

Tomorrow night, in the same auditorium, the graduating class of the preparatory department will hold its yearly class-day exercises. On Thursday afternoon and evening an exhibition and reception will be held at the College of Fine Arts at Garvanza, when the graduating pupils of Dean Judson will present their art productions of the year. The College of Music will give the annual graduation concert in the University Church on Friday evening.

An innovation in the final commencement-day festivities of the combined colleges is announced this year, the programme being given at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, June 18, at Temple Auditorium, when 150 graduates from eight colleges will receive their sheepskins. Heretofore the final exercises have been held in the evening at Simpson Auditorium, but the large number of friends of the graduates necessitates a more spacious auditorium. Dr. David Starr Jordan of Stanford University will deliver the commencement address.

The regular summer session of the campus colleges opens June 24, continuing six weeks, and, judging from the increasing interest shown in the large attendance last session, the coming term promises to eclipse all former records, both in point of attendance and in the scope of studies offered. The courses are planned for both preparatory and college students, and both for those who have work to make up or who desire advanced studies.

It is expected that a large number of teachers will avail themselves of the opportunity to pursue work along some special line of research, and some High School students are preparing to enter in order to remove required subjects preparatory to college matriculation in the fall.

Fifty-six courses are offered in the following subjects: Biology, economics, English, French, German, Greek, history, Italian, Latin, philosophy, education, physics, Spanish and sociology, the courses in economics to be under the direction of Prof. Rockwell D. Hunt, Ph.D., who recently accepted the chair of political economy and sociology.

TITLED VISITORS.

Danish Counts and Contess, on World Tour, in Los Angeles for Short Stay.

A party of titled Danes arrived in Los Angeles from San Francisco yesterday morning and took apartments at the Alexandria for a visit of several days.

In the party are Count and Countess H. Moltke, Count E. Moltke, Mlle. Z. Gyllick, and several servants. They intend visiting various points of interest in this country, having recently arrived from Japan and China.

The Countess is said to be a warm friend of Queen Louise of Denmark and the family is distantly related to the Von Moltkes of Germany.

Living in Egyptian Tombs.

It is surprising to strangers to find Egyptian families occupying some of the tombs which have ben excavated and abandoned. It seems uncanny to see babies playing cheerfully about the doors of the tomb houses, and to watch chickens running in and out as they do at the mud dwellings. When questioned about the tombs a dragoman said that those occupied as homes had been tombs of ordinary citizens and were of no value as sheer places for tourists. As some of them have several rooms extending into the rock, and as they are cool in the hottest days of summer, and warm in the cool days of winter, they are altogether desirable as homes. The Egyptians do not share the horror of dead bodies felt by Europeans. Children run about with pieces of mummies, and if they cannot dispose of them to tourists they play with them. A mummified foot or hand is so common in Luxor that one may be purchased for a few cents.—[Leslie's Weekly.

Origin of Yankee Pronunciation.

It was these historic Suffolk families who in the seventeenth century took over with them to America the peculiar Suffolk pronunciation out of which has developed the modern semi-nasal Yankee twang.—[London Spectator.

"Weakness"

Weakness is usually but a symptom of congestion or inflammation of the gland. Loss of power, etc., incident to this abnormal condition cannot be cured by internal medicines or wearing electric belts. Removal of the abnormal conditions immediately results in complete restoration of functional activity of the organs involved. We are the only specialists on the Coast curing weakness with absolute certainty.

Varicocele

No case of varicocele ever was or ever can be cured without an operation, notwithstanding the bombastic statements of would-be specialists to the contrary. For the last ten years we have had a standing offer of one thousand dollars to be awarded to any specialist who would cure a case of Varicocele without operation. Our operation is painless and devoid of all danger, and we only require our patients to lay off work for one week. By permission we can refer any one interested to any number of prominent business men whom we have cured. Before paying out your hard-earned money to any doctor or specialist, interview a few of their cured patients. We defy any one to produce a single case treated by us that is not completely and permanently cured and thoroughly satisfied.

Stricture

This trouble we treat successfully by our improved method, which never fails to bring about a cure. Electricity or electric belts cannot do this trouble any good. When you employ either you throw your money away. Call and let us explain the nature of the trouble and how you can be permanently cured.

Specific Blood Poison

Our treatment for this loathsome disease is mild, thoroughly effective and curative, eradicating every particle of virus, and precisely similar to that employed by the most celebrated specialists of Hot Springs, Ark. Beware of harsh treatment, administered by inexperienced specialists.

DR HARRISON
The Leading Specialist

Sixteen years of phenomenal success as specialists for men only, right here in Los Angeles, is strong presumptive evidence of skill and good repute.

Our cures last. We cure to stay cured. Our large and constantly increasing practice is not due to newspaper advertising, but to the fact that we cure our patients quickly and completely, thus making every patient a "booster." Our fees are always reasonable. We make no extra charges, and furnish all medicines free. Our Medical Journal may be secured downstairs at our entrance, 252½ South Broadway.

Free Treatment

Until June 15th, we will treat any simple uncomplicated case free and furnish all medicines free. We make this generous offer to meet the exigencies of the times, and with the assurance that the patients suffering from simple, uncomplicated ailments who avail themselves of this offer will be glad to recommend others, including cases of complicated chronic ailments for the cure of which we will receive a reasonable fee.

Consultation, examination and expert diagnosis are free in all cases, and we cordially invite ailing men to call and inspect our superb office equipment, also our private sanitarium fitted with every modern appliance for high-class, aseptic surgery, including operations for circumcision, varicocele, rupture, piles, stone in the bladder, urethral obstructions and prostatic enlargement.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

"Have you heard the latest?"

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Massachusetts Society.

Members of the Massachusetts Society will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at Mammoth Hall, No. 517 South Broadway, where an entertainment of music and readings will be provided, together with a social session.

Fire from Oil Lamp.

An oil lamp, accidentally overturned, caused a $50 blaze last night at the home of Mrs. J. Getchell, No. 538 Maple avenue. The flames were extinguished by chemicals and the fire was confined to one room. None of the family suffered injury.

Convention Talk.

Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, will speak at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Presbyterian ministers' meeting in the rooms of the Bible Institute, giving his impressions of the church convention at Kansas City, from which he has just returned.

Academy of Sciences.

The last session of the present year of the Biological Section of the Academy of Sciences will be held this evening at the Pacific College of Osteopathy, Daly street and Mission road. The lecturer will be Dr. J. Park Dougall, on "Theories of Immunity, from the Standpoint of Bacteriology." The meeting is open to the public.

Bungalow Burns.

A bungalow at Arvia street and San Fernando Road, in the MacKaye tract, was burned about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The place was occupied by B. F. Gray, a real estate man, but there was no one in the building at the time. The fact that the upper part of thes tructure was discovered on fire first indicates that the flames started from an incendiary source, although the fire may have been caused accidentally by a tramp.

New Osteopaths.

Commencement exercises of the June class of the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy will be held Thursday evening at the Woman's Club house. Addresses will be made by Dr. George A. Gates, president of Pomona College, and by Dr. R. W. Dowling. Dr. H. W. Forbes will present the diplomas, and an orchestra will furnish music. The class has thirteen members. The doctrate sermon was preached by Rev. Burt Estes Howard yesterday morning at the First Unitarian Church. Tonight the senior B class will banquet.

Occidental Farce.

The senior class of Occidental College will give its annual farce in the Hall of Letters tonight at 8 o'clock. The first part of the programme will be "A Proposal Under Difficulties," by John Kendrick Bangs. The cast will consist of Miss Kate Darling, Miss Faye McKean, Theodore Chapin and Arthur Spring. "The Mousetrap," by William Dean Howells, will then be presented by the following cast: Misses Myrtle Hubach, Annie Harris, Bess Buck, Pearl Wiggins, Mae Darling, Emma Thomas and Watson Burt.

"Oregon Day."

Next Saturday will be "Oregon Day" at Venice, the Oregon Society of Southern California having planned the outing for all Oregonians in this section. Special cars will leave the Hill-street station of the Los Angeles-Pacific at 10 o'clock that morning to carry the excursionists to the beach. There will be a basket luncheon and a programme of speeches and music at the Venice pavilion. The society expects soon to establish permanent headquarters in Los Angeles. A preliminary meeting to this end will be held next Thursday evening at Johnson's studio, No. 512 South Hill street.

BREVITIES.

INTERESTING CONFERENCE.

Free Methodists Close Sessions But Camp Meeting Continues Daily. Appointments of Ministers.

The nineteenth conference of the Free Methodists of Southern California, at which Bishop W. T. Hogue presided, has passed into history. It was held at Mineral Park, Garvanza, and at the closing session, yesterday, the bishop delivered an inspiring address on "Christian Education,' his remarks having special application to Los Angeles Seminary, located at Hermon.

The appointments of ministers for the ensuing year are as follows: David McLeod, elder of Los Angeles district; G. W. Griffith, Los Angeles; C. B. Ebey, Hermon; W. C. Graves, Pasadena; M. N. Downing, Whittier; James Craig, Santa Ana; S. P. Hellman, Sawtelle; L. T. Prose, supply at Garden Grove; J. Q. Murray and Etta Murray, supply at Watts; J. T. Wornom, supply at Monte Vista; Ada Pearce, Monrovia; J. W. Marshall, San Diego; D. D. Dodge, supply at Escondido; Harry Beamish and Luella Betts Beamish, supply at Nipoma and Santa Maria; E. G. Albright, Pomona, Ontario and Uplands; A. C. Brown, Riverside; J. K. Freeland and C. W. Shay, teachers in Los Angeles Seminary; W. E. Shepard, conference evangelist; E. Leonardson, temperance evangelist and F. A. Ames, elder of Arizona district.

The camp meeting, which has been held in connection with the conference, will be continued until the 14th. inst., because of the unusual interest manifested. There will be preaching daily at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

REMEMBER THEIR DEAD.

Woodmen of World Decorate Graves and Hold Services—Minister Tells Life's Meaning.

Local camps of Woodmen of the World visited the city cemeteries yesterday morning and decorated the graves of their dead. At Evergreen Cemetery there was a memorial service, attended by several hundred members of the order. At 3 p.m., La Fiesta Camp, No. 63, held an anniversary service at Woodmen Hall on Mercantile Place, at which Rev. Burt Estes Howard of the Church of the Unity, was the principal speaker, and Past Head Consul John H. Foley presided. Selections were given by La Fiesta Orchestra and J. H. Zinck sang a tenor solo.

Rev. Mr. Howard said in brief: "On such an occasion as this, we look into each other's eyes with a strange wistfulness, wondering who will be the next to go. No man can think seriously on the problem of death without being dazed by its vastness.

"All down through the years rumbles the deep undertone of immortality," he continued. "With accented emphasis all the sages have told of life's quick passage. There has ever been a serious desire to learn life's real meaning.

"Too often its value is measured in terms of quantity. Life cannot be counted by one's portion of this world's goods. It is the heart, mind and soul that really count. There are things that are ageless—charity, justice, truth and brotherly love. No life can be measured by the world's applause. The worth of our being is not to be judged by the notice men take of us."

An Early Scotch

proverb first informed us that "A fool and his money are soon separated." But there are a few persons in this world who would rather pay a little more for an article than pay less. It is a species of vanity with some people. Such persons are not necessarily fools, for they keep a lot of worthy and industrious people in various parts of the world from going to seed—artists, decorators, peasant folks, etc. Think of the poems in bon-bon boxes that are made in France and Austria by poor people—poor in worldly goods but rich in art feeling. These art goods are bought by the well-to-do classes for gifts and mementoes, often to merely please a cultivated taste. And lots of them are filled at Christopher's. You can find many novelties in handsome boxes and baskets that make elegant birthday or even wedding gifts. All kinds of prices from the very modest to the way-ups.
